BANDIT KILLS MAIL GUARD FERRY STATION

Enters Registry Division of San Francisco—Kills
Frank Adams

LEAVES WITH LOOT

Guard Gave Bandit Chance,
But Lost His Life
Doing It

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—A registered mail pouch stolen when a lone bandit held up the ferry post-office here early today and killed Frank Adams, a guard, was found this afternoon on Stuart street, near Market, a few blocks from the scene of the robbery. The pouch had not been opened. The man who reported the finding of the pouch to the police was detained for questioning. His name was not given out.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—Frank B. Adams, guard at the San Francisco Ferry postoffice station, was shot and killed early today by a bandit who held up the registry room at the postoffice and escaped with one full pouch of registered mail.

The robbery occurred about 4 a. m. and only one bandit entered the building. Adams, doing guard duty, walked into the room and challenged the robber, who opened fire immediately, inflicting wounds which caused Adams' death soon afterwards.

The bandit then picked up a registered mail pouch and fled. Police believe confederates with an automobile aided his escape. Postoffice inspectors expressed the belief that only a comparatively small loss was sustained in the robbery.

The bandit, wearing a mask, walked into the registry room of the Ferry station. W. R. Needham was the only clerk in the room at the time. Outside worked about 30 men in the general mail department. Adams was guard for the registry division. Other guards were distributed throughout the building. The man carried a shotgun. He attempted to cover the bandit with his gun. The robber fired once. The bullet struck Adams in the lower right side. The bandit walked out of the room and hurried away. Apparently stunned by the unexpectedness of the shot, other clerks made no attempt to stop the man.

"I was typing," Needham told the police. "I looked up and there stood the masked bandit. 'Throw up your hands,' he ordered. He then backed me into the vault and attempted to close the door. I showed my foot between the door and the vault and he couldn't close it. Then I heard a shot."

Fleming told the police he had gone for some keys. "I met Adams and we went into the registry room together," he said. "As I stepped in the bandit shoved a blue steel revolver in my face. Adams was carrying a shotgun over his shoulder. He attempted to swing it into use. The bandit fired and Adams dropped to the floor. The masked man then backed me up to the vault but didn't close the door. He then lifted a mail pouch from the floor and stepped out of the door."

GLENDALE SHRINE TO HAVE NEW CLUB

Membership Will be Received to Get Club Going in Near Future

Plans are being made in Glendale to organize a Shrine club and all Shriner living in Glendale, no matter where they have their membership cards, are requested to sign the petition. The purpose of the organization is to enable the Shriners to get together in a social way and hold smokers, dinners and other entertainments. It is a purely social organization and provision will be made for the entertainment of the wives, mothers and daughters of the members.

Dues will be nominal and will be used to defray the expense of organization and to pay for postage and printing. Several Shrine clubs are operating successfully in other parts of Southern California, chief among them being Pasadena, Santa Ana, Long Beach and Santa Barbara. Membership petitions are at Neale & Gregg's and at the chamber of commerce rooms.

MISS YORBA STILL IN LEAD FOR QUEEN

At the last counting of votes Miss Viola Yorba is still leading in the contest for Queen of the American Legion Fiesta on Armistice Day. She has a total of 25,400 votes while Louise Moniot, her nearest competitor has 14,825.

The standing of the contestants today is as follows: Viola Yorba, 25,400; Louise Moniot, 14,825; Dorothy Morton, 13,725; Winnifred Sternberg, 13,450; Mrs. Warren Roberts, 12,000; Elline Wheeler, 11,675; Edna Brown, 6,275; Florence Kriskie, 6,100; Lucille Parks, 3,750; Mary Chapman, 2,600; Helen DeLane, 2,500; Margaret Eckles, 1,450, and Mildred McCobb, 1,000.

Storm is the Test for Oak or for Man Says James W. Foley

The test of the oak tree is in the storm—so with the individual, the storm is the test. This is from James W. Foley's article in the "Listening Post," on the editorial page this evening.

"Stand Steadfast," says Mr. Foley. "Be the rock where the tide ebbs and flows. Be sure that for every tide that ebbs in your life, there will be a succeeding one that flows. Be patient, serene, courageous. Labor and wait."

It is good philosophy. You should read what Mr. Foley has to say.

Dr. Frank Crane in discussing "These Times," in his article on the editorial page says, "the world is becoming a decenter place to live in, and our children's children are going to be happier than our fathers' fathers." And he tells us why. Read it.

This evening a new writer is introduced on the editorial page, Delia Stewart, who heads her articles "Just Between Ourselves."

Henry James waxes indignant at the action of Los Angeles police raiding an entertainment overrun with desperate bandits. There are editorials on pertinent subjects, quotations from the sages of long ago, poetry, extracts from eastern newspapers and other features. It's a good editorial page to read regularly.

JESS CAMPBELL IS RAKED OVER COALS

SANTA ANA, Oct. 26.—"Jess Campbell had to die. He led the kind of life that sooner or later would force some friend to kill him. The all-seeing eye of the unseen fixed upon May Campbell to do it. It is often that some such deranged mind is called upon to execute the decree of the unseen. If May Campbell goes to her death upon the gallows, she will be a martyr to that higher cause which decrees finality."

Attorney Guy Eddie of Los Angeles, counsel for the woman who is on trial here for murder, today uttered these words to the jury. He closed his argument at noon—an argument that was one of the most powerfully eloquent pleas that has been heard in the local courts.

LIGHTWEIGHT TEAM SCORES A VICTORY

Glendale high school chalks up another football victory: Yesterday the lightweight team went to Azusa and defeated the midgets of Citrus Union high school 20 to 0. The local boys won the game despite the fact that a steam riveter at work next to the athletic field made it difficult for the players to hear the signals. Willard Roberts made the first touchdown in the first 3 minutes of play while A. Gingly made the second in the last quarter. Horri kicked both goals. Another particular star for Glendale was R. H. Butts who played a brilliant game throughout and in the last few minutes made a 50-yard run. The lightweight team is making a very good record this year and is keeping the Varsity team on edge to maintain an equal reputation.

BODY OF WAR HERO IS HOME FOR BURIAL MILITARY HONORS

Services for William Schaffer
be Held Here Thursday Afternoon

The body of William S. Schaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schaffer of Long Beach arrived in Glendale this morning. Deceased is an ex-service man who was killed in France. He was a member of the 359th Infantry of the Texas-Oklahoma 90th division, and at the time of his death, which occurred at St. Mihiel, France, on October 5, 1918, he was serving as a dispatch runner.

Mr. Schaffer, who was an expert electrician, was a member of El Paso lodge No. 187, B. P. O. E., and was the only one of 500 in the service from that lodge who was killed. In honor of Mr. Schaffer this lodge, of which Gen. Pershing is a life member, adopted 10 little French orphans. Schaffer was 34 years old, and in addition to his parents he leaves three brothers, Henry, Carl and Walter, all of whom live in Glendale.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn cemetery. The service will be in charge of the Elks' lodge, while the local branch of the American Legion will furnish the pallbearers, the firing squad and the bugler. Pulliam & Kiefer Undertaking Company will have charge of the funeral.

BLACK ASKED NOT RESIGN BY BOARD

All Schools to Close Armistice Day by Order of School Board

At the meeting of the board of education last night at the Intermediate school, Superintendent White submitted a letter received from Trustee David Black stating that he would be obliged to be absent from Glendale for two months in the East and offering to resign from the board if members thought it advisable to do so.

Superintendent White was instructed to advise Mr. Black that the board considered that it would be unwise for him to resign and prejudicial to the interests of Glendale schools.

There was discussion of the value of lands adjoining school grounds, which the board expects to purchase, and Mr. White was instructed to address a letter to W. C. Wattles, chairman of the citizens' advisory committee, asking him and two members of his committee to investigate and report to the board what, in their opinion, is a fair valuation of the land desired.

Relative to the improvement of streets facing school grounds, Superintendent White was instructed to write the city manager asking for further information concerning the proposed improvements, and for the opinion of City Attorney Woodard as to what legal steps the board can take to secure the money that will be required to make such improvements, if they desire to do so.

Mr. White was also instructed to investigate relative to the need of an additional kindergarten teacher at Pacific avenue school. Armistice Day was declared a holiday and the schools ordered closed.

Mr. White was requested to instruct the janitors of all school buildings to be at such buildings on Halloween night.

SUPERVISORS GIVE QUICK AID TO CITY

The Glendale chamber of commerce and the county supervisors are working hand in hand, as evidenced by a little transaction that took place this week. Several days ago, Assistant Secretary Samuels, Supervisor Wright on the telephone and informed him that the western end of Fairview avenue was badly in need of repairs. A day or so later a communication was received from Mr. Wright stating that something in the way of repairing this short strip, which is in the county, would be done at once.

On Monday of this week a squad of seven men appeared on the scene and is putting the particular section of Fairview avenue in good condition. Their work will be finished about the end of the week.

AGED COUPLE DIE AT SAME INSTANT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Summerfield, both 65 years of age, met death at the same instant when struck by a fast electric train on the Long Beach line near here late last night. The aged couple were crossing the Pacific Electric right of way at Fifty-third street. They were confused by the headlights of the beach train.

WADSWORTH GETS BUSY ON RULING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—An amendment to the tax bill, designed to give the Government additional revenue through the use of beer and wine for medicinal purposes, under the regulations just issued by Secretary Mellon, was introduced today by Senator Wadsworth, New York. The amendment proposed a tax of 60 cents a gallon on beer, $1.20 a gallon on wine, and $6.40 a gallon on whiskey or other liquors.

Let Glendale People Pick High School Site

Following Tuesday night's mass meeting to discuss the proposed new site for Glendale's new union high school building, one is led to believe opinions differ as to the best location for the city's institution of learning. Everyone was unanimous in a desire for a new union high school building, but there the unanimity fell overboard and was drowned.

The matter of a site for the new building should now be put up to the qualified voters in the district. A semi-official election, to guide the high school trustees, will answer the question at once and for all time. The people, by referendum, should be allowed to vote on the various sites involved, and the site receiving the greatest number of votes should be the one the trustees select. The referendum can be held jointly with the bond election. In this way the question would be settled by the people, the ones who properly should settle it. In this way politics, avarice, personalities, religion and spite would be eliminated.

Senator Crow is a lawyer, 51 years old, and has been a member of the Pennsylvania state senate since 1907.

MATTISON JONES TO BE HONORED HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

Returns From East Following
Election to High
Masonic Office

Mattison B. Jones has returned from his trip to Asheville, North Carolina, where he attended the general grand council of Royal and Select Masters of the United States, and also General Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of the United States, held from September 26 to 30.

Two officers were to be filled in the General Grand Council and in the balloting of these offices, Mr. Jones was the leading candidate, being elected to the highest office, General Grand Master of the Second Veil, his next rival, Mr. Anderson, being elected General Master of the First Veil.

This office puts Mr. Jones in line for election at some future time as head of the General Grand Council of the United States, representing 700,000 Royal Arch Masons.

It is a great honor to California and an even greater honor to his home organization, Unity Chapter, which is comparatively young and which had its initial meeting eight years ago in the home of Mr. Jones. The chapter appreciates its proud position and has asked the Glendale Commandery to join with in a reception to Mr. Jones as General Grand Master of the Second Veil as well as Grand High Priest of California, at Masonic Temple, Thursday night, before other chapters who will seek to honor him, have had opportunity to tender him a reception.

Relative to the incidents of his trip, Mr. Jones said:

"Asheville is all that has been claimed for it in beauty and surroundings. The delegates were taken on an auto ride through the great Vanderbilt estate which is being gradually cut up into small holdings. A large body of delegates, including myself, were royally received at Knoxville, preceding the General Grand Council. Following the sessions I visited my alma mater, the State University at Lexington, Ky., where I addressed the student body at a rally staged by the alumni. I also visited President Emeritus James K. Patterson, founder of the university, now 88 years old and very feeble. I was received by the Grand Lodge and the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of Kentucky as well as the Grand Chapter at Louisville last week, and there had an opportunity of meeting many friends and acquaintances scattered throughout the state. At the same time I visited relatives and friends in my native state.

"The entire trip was most pleasant. The eyes of the people I met were quite uniformly turned towards California and the query in my mind is, 'what are we going to do with all the people who are coming to us?' I am glad to be at home again and find that the prosperity of Glendale is no less marked than when I left it."

FUGHT WORLD WAR ALL OVER AGAIN

PASADENA, Oct. 26.—Fighting the war all over again, early this morning, Italy both won and lost when Carmine Gianetti, an Italian cook at the Maryland Hotel, beat an Austrian cook, Henry Walsh over the head while the latter was in bed. Walsh is in a precarious condition at the Pasadena Hospital, and Gianetti is being held for attempt to commit murder.

BABE WILL SOON KNOW

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Babe Ruth, home-run king, will know his fate for violating the rules against barnstorming by world series players within two weeks, it was learned here today. Judge Landis, high commissioner of baseball, is now working on the decision and is expected to make it public within that time.

HIGH SCHOOL SITE ISSUES HIGH IN AIR

Eight Hundred Attend Mass
Meeting Last Night

NO DECISION MADE

Various Sites are Withdrawn When Fortnight
Delay Prevails

By 8 o'clock the auditorium in Glendale High was filled Tuesday night, and the meeting called to discuss a site and a bond issue for a new high school was in full swing. Dr. H. V. Brown, president of the board of high school trustees explained the purposes of the meeting and the work done by a committee of representative citizens appointed by the chamber of commerce to investigate sites and make recommendations to the board.

Also present on the platform were Irving H. Oliver, secretary of the Board of High School Trustees who, under the school law, automatically became the secretary of the mass meeting. The third figure on the platform was Mr. Upjohn, from the office of county superintendent of schools. The division in sentiment between east and west was strongly marked from the outset when two candidates were nominated for chairmanship, John H. Foley, a non-resident of Glendale, was nominated by Alexander Mitchell as one who could be depended upon for impartial rulings, and Judge Lowe was nominated by Bert Woodard. A rising vote was taken and Judge Lowe was declared elected by Chairman Brown, but Mr. Mitchell called for division so the vote was taken again and Mr. Mitchell was asked to make the count. He then acknowledged the election of Judge Lowe. He first read the report of the special committee recommending what is known as the Lukens site at Broadway, Verdugo Road and Colorado, consisting of 21 acres fronting on the boulevard's mentioned, and with all street work in for $77,500, reached by two street car lines and two bus

PRISON OFFICIALS KNOW HOW ROY GOT FREEDOM

Famous Bandit Took Workman's Coat to Get Away
From Island

TACOMA, Oct. 26.—That they determined the method and date of Roy Gardner's escape from McNeil's Island to the mainland was declared the officials at the Federal prison today. They base their announcement on two circumstances:

1—Discovery that Gardner exchanged his coat at the Stellacom gravel bunkers for a civilian coat that he stole.

2—The theft of a rowboat from McNeil's Island on the night of September 13. The day the water front patrol was taken off duty.

It is declared that a coat stolen from a workman at the Stellacom gravel pit was found in a hotel room at Raymond, Wash., and that search disclosed a crumpled prison coat secreted at the gravel pit. The rowboat belonged to H. Evans and was taken, officials say, from Still Harbor. Gardner made a sensational escape from the prison, safely running a gauntlet of rifle fire, and is still at large.

PAST MASTERS HAD ANNUAL MEETING

The annual past masters' night was held in Masonic Temple last night. On this occasion the third degree was conferred by the past masters of the Glendale Masonic lodge. The past masters who took part in the work were as follows: Dan Campbell, Arthur Campbell, John Hobbs, Ernest J. Morgan, John Irskine, William F. Nash, Jr., Roy W. Masters and Frederick L. Baker. After the ceremony a banquet was enjoyed by the 200 members of the order who were present.

NOT TOO LATE TO "SHOOT SQUARE"

Many and varied are works that the want-ads of the Daily Press are called upon to perform. Some are addressed to all of the twelve thousand readers of the Press, while others are intended to interest only a few. In today's want-ads there is one ad. that is meant for the eyes of just one boy—a boy who thought his foot slipped once still has a chance to "make good" with himself and "shoot square."

Here is the ad.:
STOLEN—Will boy please return drum taken from G. U. H. S. to same or to 512 West Vine street. No questions asked.

There's lots of "news" in the want-ad columns of the Glendale Daily Press every day.

BANKERS TEACHING YOUNGSTERS HOW BUSINESS DONE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—More than 300 bankers of Los Angeles are to become instructors in local high schools this winter, according to plans arranged by Superintendent of High Schools Arthur Gould and W. E. Zimmermann, representing the American Institute of Banking.

It is the purpose to teach banking and finance, to familiarize public school pupils with business dealings and to teach them how to handle money through the institutions of the city.

This is part of a general plan of the American Institute of Banking being put in operation in various parts of the country to obtain similar results, and it has been sponsored by the American Bankers' Association and made a part of its educational work.

It is proposed to give daily lectures on banking subjects to classes of 200 each, daily, in all the high schools of the city, and this program may be extended to the towns of Los Angeles county.

Bankers and their principal employees are to volunteer to deliver these lectures along lines laid out by the educational system of the American Institute of Banking.

GROUPING ROADS IS BEST SOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Consolidation of the railroads into a group system much fewer in number than now is the only practical solution of the railroad problem, Senator Cummins, Iowa, declared today before the senate interstate commerce committee. Consolidation, and that alone, he said, would make possible equitable, fair and scientific treatment of all the roads on a basis that would provide the public with good service.

BABE RUTH HOME TO GET REPAIRED

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Babe Ruth is back in town rather "bumped up." The elbow which made him a casualty in the world's series has not healed and he has a carbuncle on his right hand. The swat king is not discussing his affair with Judge Landis. He is to start soon on a fifteen weeks' tour in vaudeville.

IF BACKACHE OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating Breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from back-ache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from your pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

No Wonder the Actresses of Old Scored a 'Hit'

If the beautiful Edna May were to appear on the stage or Broadway with the above hat on she would likely cause a near riot. The photograph was made when Miss May appeared as the Salvation Army Lass in "The Belle of New York." She is now Mrs. Oscar Lewisohn. If you are gifted with a sense of humor you will get a good laugh at the "old timer" of Lord Lonsdale, famous English sportsman, appearing in tomorrow's issue.

WEIRD JAZZ WEED MAKES YOU DIPPY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—Marihuana, a weird "jazz weed" frequently used by Mexican drug addicts, is the source of much crime in the Southwest, according to Inspector Fred C. Boden, of the Board of Pharmacy, of California, who has started an unrelenting fight to curb the use of the narcotic.

"Eliminate marihuana, and crime among the laboring class of Mexicans will be appreciably reduced," said Boden. "Prevent persons from planting and growing the weed and much wickedness will be spared the world."

According to the inspector, whose duties take him from Fresno to the international border, marihuana is a strange growth containing properties that astonish even the drug addict. For instance, observed Boden, a bit of marihuana placed in a drink of brandy causes the optimistic indulger to fancy that he witnesses jelly-like pulsations and Oriental wiggles in every object in his view. Street cars shake like a wicked shimmy for the marihuana smoker.

If a little marihuana is sprinkled on a tortilla it is said, sends forth wild tunes not unlike those seeping over the walls of a Sultan's harem rendezvous.

In fact, the lowly and mischievous weed is capable of producing so much devilry, Boden claims, that he never overlooks a chance to pull up a plant and arrest the grower.

HUNGARIANS GET DOWN TO BUSINESS

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Hungarian generals and statesmen, and a majority of the nobility who played brilliant roles during the war and at the court of the ex-emperor, are following the example of Field Marshal von Kuevenstein, the conqueror of Ivanograd, who recently opened a cigar shop in Budapest, by setting up in business as shopkeepers, tailors, carpenters and clerks.

The Baroness Dora Banffy, daughter of the former Hungarian premier, has opened a hat shop, while Count Eugen Klebelsberg has become a mounted policeman on probation.

Count Albert Apponyi, the veteran Hungarian statesman, writes two articles monthly for a New York newspaper, and Herr von Szepesky, member of an old family of aristocrats, is about to marry a dressmaker and plans to become a woman's tailor.

Famous dancers and singers unable to live on their salaries have opened manicure saloons, and the greatest tragedienne, of the National theatre, Emilia Markus, is employed in a soap works.

POOR KING GEORGE HAS TOUGH LUCK

LONDON, Oct. 26.—One of the most disappointing features of the English turf season, now rapidly drawing to a close—that is, to the general sporting public—has been the wretched ill-luck which has dogged King George's horses. The King, who keeps an extensive racing stable at Newmarket, has had this season the mortification of seeing more of his horses finish second or third than his owner for several years past.

The British monarch enjoys no privileges in racing with his subjects. Much laughter was caused when the late Shah of Persia was taken to a race meeting by the late King Edward and was horrified to witness his royal host's entry beaten by one of the late Leopold de Rothschild's horses. The eastern ruler immediately asked how soon the darling commoner was to be executed—adding that the cheers greeting the Rothschild winner indicated that its owner was a most dangerous subject and should be quietly strangled or drowned. The Persian Shah never quite understood why King Edward entertained Rothschild to dinner that night and allowed him to leave the table without poisoning him.

As a matter of fact, King George is handicapped by his rank, for he must not run horses for profit. Custom decrees that he must only keep "class" horses, and enter for certain kinds of races. And when he enters for a big handicap, the official handicapper feels that he must err rather on the severe side than the lenient, when allotting weights to the royal horses. King George, himself does not bet, and except for a natural love for and knowledge of horses, is said to take little interest in actual racing. But he is an enthusiastic breeder and it is no secret that he has been greatly disappointed over the ill-success which has attended his carefully selected and home-bred stud.

Actually, His Majesty has a string of high-class animals, as regards breeding, but moderate as regards performances. However, despite his bad luck there is no foundation for recurring rumors that King George contemplates giving up the turf.

Chief sporting interest is centered on how soon the Prince of Wales will embark on a turf career. The Prince prefers to ride his own horses and has already competed successfully in several military and hunt-club steeplechase meetings. But it is reliably reported that on his return from India and Japan next spring, the Prince will establish a small racing stud.

BUY WOMEN EASY PAYMENTS DOWN

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—Women are on the "auction block" and wives may be bought at $5 a week, balance in easy payments," from the Otella tribe of the Bantus in the kingdom of Wanbo Nyana, Belgian Congo, 1500 miles from the west coast of Africa.

This is the sensational report of Dr. J. A. Stockwell, of Lake Charles, La., who served for four years as a missionary among the savages of the "little uncivilized kingdom." Dr. Stockwell is now on a lecture tour.

"When I went to the heart of Africa," Dr. Stockwell said, "I found the people living in the most primitive fashion. They could do little for themselves and worked on the principle that unless their ancestors had done it, a task would be impossible."

"The native women are put in the same category as beasts. Their chief value is their usefulness for work, and when that is gone they are abandoned and often left to die. Wives in Central Africa are acquired by purchase, either from their families or from their owner. They are bought on the installment plan, the equivalent of five or seven dollars being paid as first payment, and the equivalent of 50 cents being paid periodically while manly work continues."

"When a husband dies the women mourn very perceptibly, lest they be accused of his death. There have been many cases of wives being thrown alive into the graves of their husbands."

WE MAY LIVE TO BE THREE HUNDRED

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—With the advent of world-wide prohibition and the added knowledge of hygiene and right living, human beings may live to 300 years. As men grow wiser and more careful of what they dump into their stomachs, and pay more attention to mending little breaks promptly, a person only 100 years old will be looked upon as a strapping. This is the sentiment of the National Association of Mutual Life Underwriters in ninth annual session here.

John W. Barth of Omaha sounded the chief note of promise for the race. He is an actuary employed by a great number of insurance companies as an expert in interpreting mortality tables.

"Never laugh at prophecies," said Mr. Barth. "The human race has added ten years to the length of the life of the average man in the last fifty years, and all indications point to a similar gain in the next fifty years. We formerly laughed at the idea of men flying. Let us not laugh at the idea of men living to be 300 years old. The life pinnacle is now 75 years instead of 68. Back to Methuselah? Why not?"

UNCLE CHARLEY IS NC EIGHT HOUR MAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Uncle Charley Patton, a groundskeeper at the White House, has started an efficiency drive of his own.

"I ain't going to bum on Uncle Sam," Uncle Charley, 83, declared today. "I haven't taken an hour off since March 5. I start to work at 5:30 every morning and work eight hours, sometimes longer."

Uncle Charley was caretaker at Harding's headquarters in Marion and he kept the front porch so clean that the President brought him to Washington. In his spare time Charley tells how he lost one ear in the Battle of Shiloh.

103, Proposes Marriage to Woman of 100

Mrs. Francois Levaopreste, of Grant City, Staten Island, celebrated her 100th birthday. The other day Mrs. Levaopreste received a letter, with a Baltimore postmark, containing a proposal of marriage. The writer, signing himself "F. Lindsey," said he had just celebrated his 103rd birthday and was sure he and she would suit each other. Mrs. Levaopreste said, "A woman is never too old to get married," but as yet she has not accepted the proposal. Mrs. Levaopreste's recipe for longevity is "work hard, keep at it, and take an occasional glass of wine." Despite her 100 years Mrs. Levaopreste is very spry and well able to do most of her housework.

CLEANED BARBER SHOP OF ALL RAZORS

A misguided young man, possibly one of those who are coming to Southern California for the winter on account of our balmy climate, dropped off a Southern Pacific train in South Glendale the other day. He roamed around the streets for a while, and seeing no one in the barber shop, on San Fernando road, went in and proceeded to "clean up" the establishment. When discovered by the barber he had a pocket or two full of razors and the like. The barber produced a "cat" whereupon the newcomer voluntarily proceeded to empty his pockets of the shaving utensils.

VARIETY STORE OPENS SATURDAY

The grand opening of the South Glendale Variety store, a new addition to the business section on South San Fernando road, will take place next Saturday. This store will carry everything that an up to date variety store should keep in stock.

FORMAL RECEPTION FOR THEIR MINISTER

The formal reception of Rev. V. Hunter Brink, who has been returned to the Central Avenue Methodist church for the coming year, will be held in the church tonight. A program of vocal and instrumental numbers and readings is being prepared for this affair, after the completion of which refreshments will be served. This church has made a good growth under Rev. Brink's preaching and he is well liked in the southern end of the city.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB MEETS THURSDAY

The regular weekly meeting of the South Glendale Improvement Club will be held in the hall over the library on South Brand boulevard Thursday evening. This will be an important meeting as there are a number of matters of vital interest to be presented to the people of South Glendale at that time.

COMPLAINTS HEARD REGARDING CROSSING

A number of complaints are being heard around the southern end of the city against the Southern Pacific crossing at a point where it intersects with South Brand boulevard. This crossing is just one machine wide so that when motorists attempt to pass at this intersection at night one of the cars is compelled to "ride the rails." The crossing is a rather bumpy process and is anything but a benefit to the tires of any car. That's why the people of Glendale are taking steps to see if some relief cannot be secured in the matter.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETING THURSDAY

The Women's Missionary society of the South Glendale Presbyterian church will be held in the church on Thursday of this week. This meeting will be an all-day affair, a luncheon being served at noon. Mrs. Blow of Pasadena, a prominent worker in this missionary work, will be the principal speaker on the program which will be given in the afternoon. Other numbers consisting of musical and literary selections will be given.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY FOR CENTRAL AVENUE

Misses Elsa Rhoder and Irene Ingraham will entertain the young people of the Central Avenue Methodist church Friday evening with a Halloween party, the affair taking place at the home of Miss Ingraham on South Brand boulevard. Elaborate preparations are being made by these young people for this event, which promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the Halloween season.

SOME EARNER

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—While it is generally recognized that race horses are an uncertain investment, they frequently return good profits, as is indicated by the case of Yellowhand and Dry Moon, which were purchased by Charles A. Stoneham a year ago. The owner of the Giants paid $25,000 for the two racers and Yellowhand alone has won nearly $40,000 this season. Dry Moon has also won some small purses, so that the investment has returned a profit of nearly 100 per cent.

South Glendale

PERSONALS
Mr. and Mrs. Cover C. Melrose of Bakersfield, formerly of this place, are passing some time with Mrs. Melrose's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ayers of 215 East Palmer avenue. Incidentally they are renewing acquaintances with many of their old friends of this city.

E. Will Richardson, son of Mrs. Ella Richardson, was in Glendale early this week, enjoying short visits with a number of friends of Glendale. Mr. Richardson is now located at Lankershim, where he and a number of associates have just started the First National bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Baker and wife of South Brand boulevard, who for several days have been enjoying a visit with friends at Camarillo, Calif., have returned to their home at this place.

J. V. Zimmerman, recently of Watts, is constructing a brick oil station at 909 South San Fernando road. This station will be completed and ready for business about the first of the week.

A real estate office has just been opened by L. H. Wilson at the corner of Park avenue and San Fernando road.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Satow of the San Fernando road, journeyed to Sawtelle Sunday, where they enjoyed several hours with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Neel of Santa Ana, enjoyed a visit over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brenkman of the San Fernando road. Mr. Brenkman is South Glendale's leading electrician.

Mrs. L. M. Baldwin has returned from Monrovia where she has been spending several days with Mrs. Frank Dupar. Mrs. Baldwin is a partner in the B. and R. Millinery establishment on the San Fernando road.

PLUMBING TRADES DOING MUCH WORK

The Griffin Plumbing company, 806 South San Fernando road, is furnishing the plumbing for quite a number of new homes in Glendale. A home for Mr. Smith of Los Angeles at 611 West Broadway, which will cost about $2500; a dwelling for Dr. Sutton on West Broadway to cost something like $3500, which will be sold when completed; several homes for William La Fountain on West Acacia street, these homes being arranged in the form of a bungalow court; a residence for H. A. Miner at 206 East Park avenue, which the owner will occupy when completed; a $3500 residence on Riverdale drive for R. H. Russell; a new home for B. L. Cline at the corner of Everett and Raleigh street and another for the same party on Milford street.

Mr. Griffin says that business is better now than it has ever been and that he expects that this winter will be the most active in the building line that Glendale has ever known.

CUTTING AWAY ON BRAND BLDV. CORNER

Work has been started in the cutting away of the sharp corner at the intersection of Brand boulevard and South San Fernando road. A sidewalk has already been laid at the point where it is desired, and after this is ready for use, the corner will be cut away and the roadway improved. The widening of the roadway at this point will do much to increase the safety to motorists and pedestrians at this particular point. Some complaint has been heard regarding the length of time it is taking to effect this improvement, but it is known that the city council is working just as rapidly as possible in this matter. Certain legal proceedings must be complied with before improvements of this character can be made.

CHILDREN'S PARTY BE HELD ON FRIDAY

The annual Children's party will be given by the Tropico Homestead of the Yoeman lodge Friday evening, the affair to take place in the Yoeman hall, 1502 South San Fernando road. Quite a few interesting Halloween numbers are being arranged and these will be given as part of the program. Following the program a treat will be given to all of the kiddies present. Toward the close of the evening, after the children's part of the affair is over, the older folks will enjoy dancing. A Halloween party of this character for the little ones has been given by the Yoeman lodge for the past six years.

DEFER PAYMENTS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Germany will make no further reparations payments until February or March, according to news reaching local bankers, the Dow Jones financial news agency stated today. The precise date for resumption of payments has not yet been set by the reparations commission it was said.

RESERVES BERTH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Premier Lloyd George has made reservations to sail for New York on the Aquitania, November 3, to arrive here in time for the opening of the disarmament conference.

REALTY EXCHANGE HAS NEW OFFICES

Glendale Realty Exchange, devoted to the exchange and subdividing of Glendale and other real estate, has established permanently in new quarters, Room 4 of the First National Bank building.

This concern combines experience with service in its operations and has complete facilities for handling real estate business. It has large holdings of acreage in districts on paved roads, a few hours' ride from Glendale, located principally in the Lancaster and Beaumont districts. In speaking of the future of Glendale, a member of the firm expressed the opinion that this city has a great future and that here will grow a city of several hundred thousand people within the course of the next few years.

In the listing of property the Glendale Realty Exchange has adopted a novel and practical method, which is extremely interesting to all owners of property, as it allows freedom of action to the owner. It also insures an absolute rendition of service and a disposition of property by means of which the owner can satisfy himself of the efforts exerted in his behalf.

The Exchange also makes a specialty of business opportunities in Glendale and other places and at the present time has undertaken to form a coterie of Glendale investors to take over a townsite and a large area of government lands at a point east of Glendale on the Union Pacific, where an irrigation district has been formed to irrigate 8000 acres of fertile soil. This property is on the Lincoln highway and is the supply point for the Calico mining district in San Bernardino county. Over $200,000 will be spent to irrigate the lands which are adapted for the growing of grapes, grain and fruit.

BARNYARD POLICE ARE NEEDED HERE

The Glendale police department should be made a part of the Farm Bureau, as there are almost as many calls made to the police daily to ask help in getting rid of sick cats, alleged mad dogs and rambunctious billy goats as there are calls for protection from criminals. The call that deserves the iron derby came in yesterday from J. E. Green of Green street, who called the department and wanted an officer sent out to his place to drive some cows out of his yard.

He said he had driven the bovines out several times and that they had returned. He said that maybe an officer would have better success with them. He had heard, possibly, of Patrolman McLean's reputation for handling bolshevik billy goats.

Chief of Police Martin explained to him that a patrolman could not arrest the cows for trespass and that he would not have any better luck in driving the cows off the lawn than Mr. Green, so instead of sending an officer, he would wait until 5 o'clock and then send a man from the Glendale Stables if the cows were still annoying him.

LUCILLE LOVE IS HOME FROM VISIT

Lucille Love, whose disappearance yesterday caused an all-night search by her father and resulted in the police in every town in Southern California being notified to look for her, returned home yesterday afternoon. She told her parents she had been visiting friends. Her father said the girl had left her home after a dispute with her mother.

When the girl's disappearance was reported to the police, the father was informed by Chief Martin that in the event the police did locate her they could not hold her or force her to return, as she is 19 years old and legally of age.

The father of the girl, J. C. Love, spent all of Monday night searching for her and when he returned exhausted from the search, he had hopes his daughter had returned, but he was disappointed. He reported to the police and expressed the fear that his daughter had either ended her life or had been abducted.

BIKE RIDERS MUST WEAR ALL LIGHTS

Chief of Police Martin is issuing the final warning to all boys who persist in riding bicycles at night without lights. The state vehicle act says that all conveyances shall have a head and tail light. This rule not only applies to automobiles and wagons, but to bicycles.

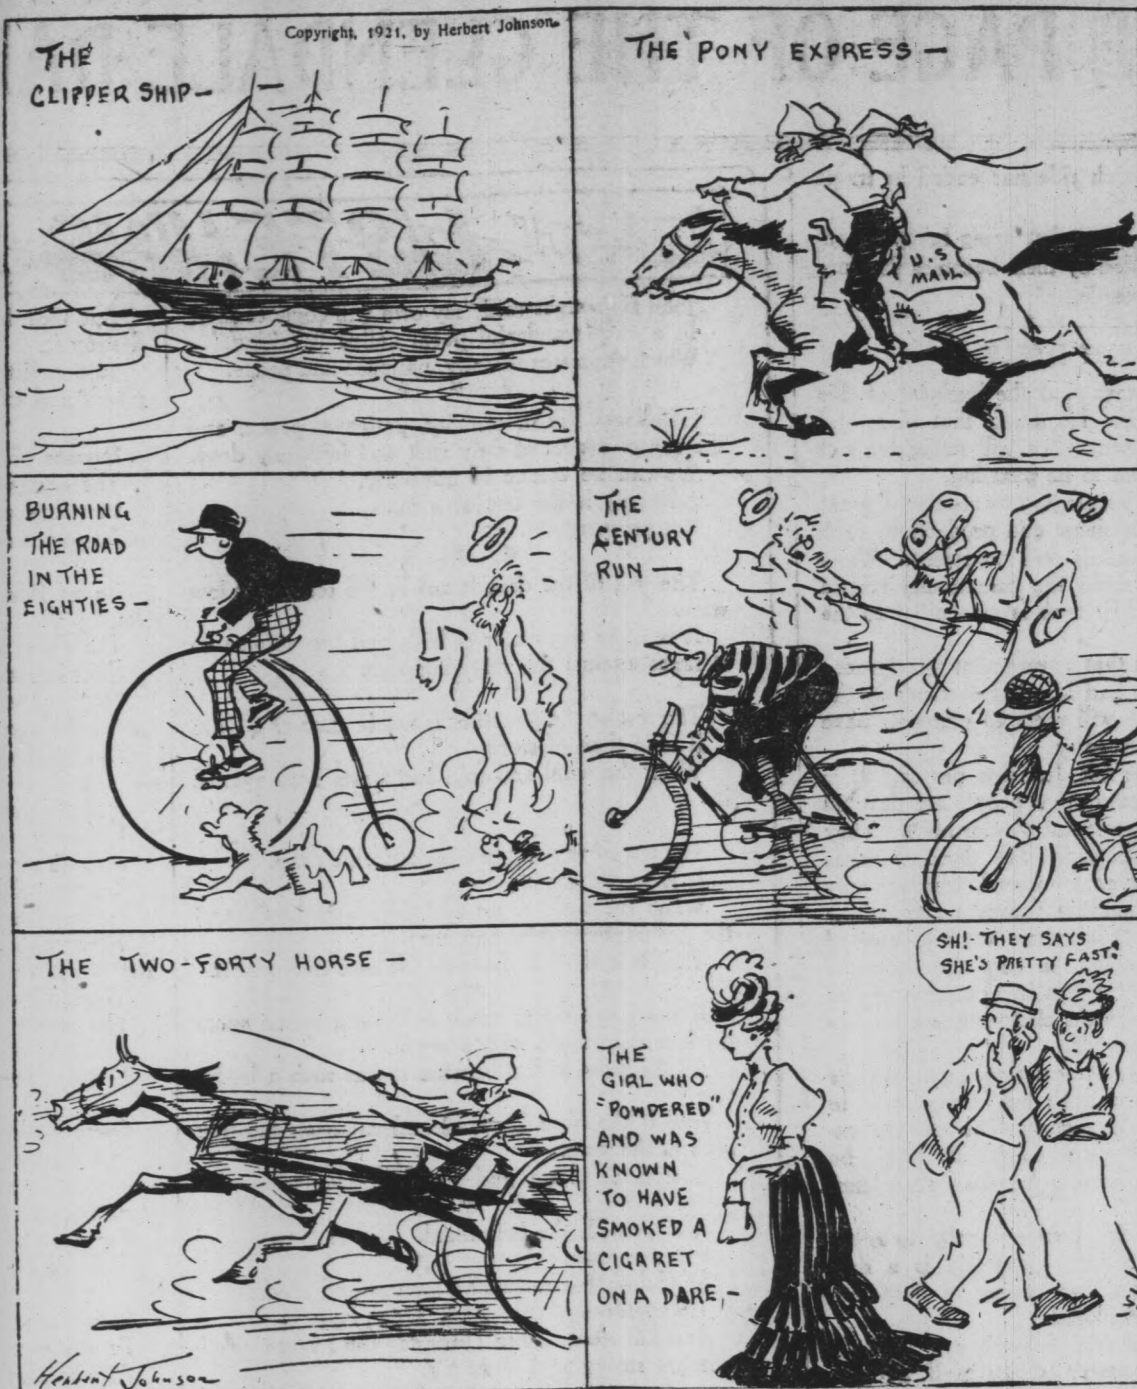

A recent bulletin from the vehicle department states that the police shall take particular care in enforcing the clause with regards to lights on bicycles and that offenders should be arrested and fined the same as automobile drivers who fail to have lights on their cars.

Chief Martin has notified the boys of Glendale through the columns of the newspapers that every bicycle must have a head and tail light.

TARGET PRACTICE FOR POLICE TODAY

All members of the police department off duty went to the National Guard rifle range this afternoon, under command of Captain W. A. Loving, for target practice. Several city officials will enter the contest. Keen rivalry has been aroused between Mayor Robinson, Captain McGuire and Officer Delgado for high honors. Officer Delgado is holding the honor with a high score of 49 out of a possible 50. Several brother officers are inclined to think that the high score hung up by Delgado was an accident but he claims that it was merely the result of good marksmanship and that he can repeat his performance.

NORMA TALMADGE AT T. D. & L. TODAY

"The Sign on the Door." Norma Talmadge's latest starring vehicle, which will be the attraction at the T. D. & L. theater today and tomorrow, is said to enjoy the unique distinction of being perhaps the first version of a stage play which has ever gone to the screen without a change.

It is also interesting to note that for months the story of "The Sign on the Door" was in the scenario department of one of the foremost film companies and was returned to Mr. Pollock with a note that it was not suited for screen production. Clyde Cook's comedy, "The Sailor," Kinograms, and Henri Monnet's organ solo, complete the program.

TWENTY MEMBERS ADDED TO CHAMBER

Twenty new names were added to the roll of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at the regular weekly meeting of the board of directors yesterday, these bring the membership of that organization up to 1030. Following are the new members taken in: Jeanette E. Baldwin, Bungalow Grocery, R. E. Brundage, L. S. Chambers, Pedro Catell, Thomas Hambacher, Lois G. Hatch, George Hyne, D. Ripley Jackson, Frances E. Jackson, Lorraine Mitchell, Carrie M. Noble, H. P. Sibera, W. J. Sibert, L. Newton Smith, Charles B. Snider, Ida M. Waite and Jeanette B. Rand.

A resolution was adopted by the chamber thanking the members of the postoffice committee for the work that committee has done in securing for Glendale an independent postoffice. This committee was continued until the independent postoffice is actually in operation. This committee consists of Dr. Henry R. Harrower, chairman; Glen Ely, James Howarth, A. T. Cowan, A. R. Eastman and T. W. Watson.

MARIO CHAMLEE TO BE CARUSO OF AGE

It is expected that the "manter" of the famous Enrico Caruso shall fall upon the shoulders of Mario Chamlee, a Los Angeles man. This rumor comes from a statement made in the New York Evening Globe, in which three names were mentioned: "Lucien Muratore, the French tenor; Benjamin Gigli, the Italian, with Mario Chamlee of the Metropolitan as perhaps the most likely."

Chamlee made his debut at the Metropolitan opera house on November 21 last, and at that time several of the New York critics commented on the similarity in the quality of the two voices.

Mario Chamlee was born in Los Angeles, California, of an Italian father and American mother. His education was entrusted to Achille Alberti of that city. His debut was also made in Los Angeles with a local traveling opera company, but desiring to get ahead, he sang for many weeks in vaudeville in cities from the Mississippi river west to the Pacific coast. In doing this he was thus enabled to go east and study further, but when his savings were exhausted he then accepted an engagement of fourteen weeks in New York's most popular picture play house, The Rialto. Later the opportunity came to tour with another opera company and then with Antonio Scotti's opera company and finally he joined the Metropolitan opera company where he achieved most notable success. He played parts which first established the late Enrico Caruso in the hearts of the New York public.

Chamlee already lives in millions of homes through records, and his latest one will be "O Sole Mio," one of the records that made Caruso famous. Los Angeles should be proud to produce such a singer and this only goes to prove that America is coming into its own in producing the greatest musical talent.

SWABBING DECKS GET EDUCATION

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—"Swabbing down" the decks of a trans-oceanic freight steamer is the unique way Joe Marchetti, 24-year-old graduate of the University of Southern California, is completing his education as a lawyer. He gained some coast trips and has left on a long cruise to Europe.

He has been admitted to practice in California courts, but found, he said, that a sea life would provide him with a lot of practical experience.

INDIAN PASSES

YUMA, Ariz., Oct. 26.—Frank Paschal, hereditary chieftain of the Yuma tribe, is dead, a victim of pneumonia, at the Fort Yuma Indian School hospital. While he lay ill his tribesmen had been having their "karok," a three-day ceremonial for propitiation of the spirits of those departed during the year past.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar from any good drug-gist and use it like cold cream.

Truths in Epigram

The ass will carry his load, but not a double load; ride not a free horse to death. — Cervantes (1547-1616).

Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of. — Benjamin Franklin (1706-1790).

CHILDISH FEARS

A little girl in an Arizona town failed to reach home from school one afternoon. There was great alarm as night came. As the hours sped there was dread and anguish in the home.

In the morning the wanderer was found hidden in a church. She had lost her report card and was afraid to go home.

"Afraid to go home!" So she had sought the friendly shadows of God's sanctuary. There she had remained through the hours of darkness. No doubt she trembled at noises she could not explain. No doubt she shrank from the blackness that invaded her lonely retreat. But all the time she was afraid to go home. Poor youngster.

The interior of a church, deserted, unlighted, echoing, is a lonely spot. Almost any child would flee in terror from isolation there. Children are hard to understand. This little one was afraid of home, where welcome and love should await. Only the philosophy that stirs the infantile impulses could explain her act. Men and women have forgotten this philosophy. They are alien to the mentality just beginning to develop.

Tenderness to all children is a duty, instinctively recognized. It finds expression in the tender words of the great Master. It has touched the poet to song. It is a form that love takes as it bestows itself. The lines of Longfellow come to mind:

O little feet that such long years
Must wander on through hopes and fears,
Must ache and bleed beneath your load;
I, peerer to the wayside inn
Where toil shall cease, and rest begin,
Am weary, thinking of your road!

Fear is an emotion against which the child should be protected. It may turn the whole life awry if permitted to have sway in earlier years. And in its home every child ought to find safety, refuge; a haven absolute. That either boy or girl should be afraid to enter the portal of home, even when guilty of a wrong act, which this babe to the schools was not, is a pathetic revelation. It does not follow that the atmosphere of the home in question was at fault. Strange are the effects, and obscure the causes that make the mind of youth what it is.

ANOTHER HOME RUN

George Ruth, better known as Babe Ruth, is tumbling himself from his pedestal. The crown with which admirers adorned him seems likely to fall in the dust. Without apparent reason Ruth has elected to defy the orders of organized baseball that gave him his opportunity. For all that he did for organized baseball, he was highly paid. Ruth appears to be ungrateful, even greedy.

One of the rules of baseball is that no player engaged in a championship series shall play other games after the close of the season. For men in receipt of such incomes as these players get, there is no excuse of necessity to be pleaded.

During the last of the championship series Ruth was unable to participate. He was said to have an infected arm. It may be believed that his absence from the lineup had a material effect on the outcome of the contest. Nobody blamed him. He was regarded as unfortunate, and as plucky in sticking to the game as long as he did.

Immediately after the close of the series he was using that same arm in a manner indicating that it had been healed miraculously over-night. He was engaged in playing under circumstances that caused his act to be construed unfavorably to himself. The occasion for defying the mandate of Landis was, and still is, far from obvious.

If Ruth desires to recover his place in popular esteem he should doff his uniform and make another home run.

MISSING GIRLS

There hardly is a time when public attention is not being drawn to the disappearance of some girl. Many other vanished girls are hunted by the police without the public's being aware.

The total of missing girls is appalling. Were it much smaller than it is, still would it be appalling. Each case is appalling in itself.

It is a pitiful confession for society to be obliged to make, that the public highways no longer are safe for unprotected young women, and that the streets of every large city are beset with snares.

Some girls of course go of their own volition. They leave homes that are uncongenial, and where they are unduly restricted. They seek wider opportunity. It is possible that they find it. Often, however, they are lured by false promise or by prospects that fade.

There have been enough instances of the taking of girls by violence to constitute a warning.

Men go about with automobiles seeking prey. They accost girls with the proffer of a ride. Perhaps such a girl is on her way home from an evening call. She may have been at the neighborhood theater. If she accepts the invitation she is running a fearful risk. More than one such ride has ended in tragic misery and disgrace.

These are deplorable facts, but being facts, to recognize them and be guided by them becomes the duty of every girl and her guardians.

TO ADJUST ITSELF

Charles M. Schwab says that the business of this country will adjust itself. He thinks that time, and the laws of trade and economics will straighten out conditions that now seem to be puzzling.

It is interesting and encouraging to observe a great figure in the world of business and production, calm and wholly unafraid, poised and confident. While the timid think they behold the commercial edifice tottering, the attitude of Schwab is as a pillar to the structure.

The gentleman thinks that government interference would be an error. He had in mind particularly the coal situation. Here he will seem to many to have opened the door to controversy.

Government control is not desirable per se. It is not demanded for the reason that people are devoted to the principle of governmental overlordship. They do not yearn for paternalism. The demand arises out of desperation. The coal business, whoever may be at fault, has been shamefully mismanaged at the expense of the public. At last there has been created a clamor for the government to ease the situation. Not that under different circumstances such a course would be wise, but because the circumstances as they are, are well nigh unendurable.

If the operators and the miners would get together and with mutual patience work out a plan just to both sides, nobody would suggest that the government mix in. On the contrary, everybody would be glad at the absence of occasion for such absorption of private enterprise.

What is true as to coal, applies equally to other lines of activity. Government ownership is a desperate remedy. The need for using a desperate remedy always is to be deplored.

Provided the hopes of Mr. Schwab are realized, and the business of the country adjusts itself, the talk of government control will die away, there no longer being excuse for it.

Having ascertained that no working woman could support herself on less than $13.50 a week, the wage commission of Massachusetts set the minimum wage at $12. Thus the woman is given the opportunity to live without going into debt more than $1.50 a week.

"The Blue Boy," a Gainsborough picture, is said to have been sold for $850,000. Of course such a value is of the fictitious sort by which an object becomes worth anything that a customer can be induced to pay for it.

European reds seem to have a peculiar grudge against Americans. Americans believe in liberty and law. Reds believe in license and outlawry. It is not strange that there should exist between them a feeling of disesteem.

Veterans of the war want to know if there is an ordinance forbidding interference with the progress of a funeral cortege. They ask because when paying honors to dead soldiers from overseas they have been delayed by a rush of machines ahead or through the line. Perhaps there is no written ordinance, but there are regulations imposed by a proper conception of decency.

THESE TIMES

By Dr. Frank Crane

"We are living, we are moving, in a grand and awful time," or words to the effect, said some poet. And every day gets grander and awfuller, so to speak.

Every daily newspaper is another chapter in the unending "continued story" of the modern Thousand and One Nights Entertainment.

Flying by machines is an old story, yet every day brings some startling new phase of air conquest.

Last summer a man named Durafor, from Geneva, landed in an airplane on the top of Mont Blanc and got away safely. And it was 134 years ago that another Genevan, Francois de Saussure, with a whole troop of guides, first climbed that height.

Not only mountain tops, hitherto inaccessible, may be explored, but desert and wilderness may be visited, oceans crossed, the poles reached by aircraft, the impossibilities of yesterday become common.

Then there is the wireless. Not only words have been transmitted through thin air across the Atlantic, but pictures and autographs have actually been sent from New York to Paris.

Telegraphic conversation by wireless has been carried on from a warship at New York to one at San Diego; also from New Jersey to Scotland.

A company has been formed to generate power by motors which get their original motor power from the ocean tides.

Dr. Carell and other scientists declare, as a result of their researches, that there is no physiological reason why a human being cannot live a hundred and fifty years.

We have had moving pictures for some time, and now they are making "talkies," that is, the pictures are talking.

A commission is at work arranging for the erection of hangars to house huge Zeppelins intended for transatlantic voyages between Spain and Buenos Ayres. They will make the trip, it is claimed, in four days.

In spite of the viciousness of narrow provincialism, the stronghold of hate, prejudice, and distrust over the minds of men, the abuse of patriotism by blatherers, and the machinations of selfishness and greed, the nations of the world are actually getting together and considering disarmament, the substitution of law for brute force, and thus the elimination of war.

Superstition, credulity, fanaticism and sectarianism are rapidly disappearing from religion, and there is every prospect of a moral advance of the race under the impulse of a wholesome co-operation of religious organizations.

The world is becoming a decent place to live in, and our children's children are going to be happier than our fathers' fathers.

THE LISTENING POST

John Burroughs said "my own will come to me." In a very wonderful poem called "Waiting," Which expresses serenity, patience and peace.

Happiness lies in serenity, patience, peace, and the consciousness of duty well and faithfully done. We can be serene in adversity. Adversity is the test of a man. Not prosperity.

The test of the dam is not in the season of low water. It is when the water is high and the volume of it rages against the retaining wall.

The test of the structure is not in time of quiet. It is in time of storm. When the wind and rain and storm beat against it.

The test of the oak tree is not in the calm. It is in the storm. When the wind rages and the storm howls and the limbs are beaten and torn. Then it is that the fibre of the oak tree counts.

If there are worm eaten holes and rotten spots the tree goes down with a crash. All the more pitiful because it was such a lordly tree.

And if the fibre is sound and enduring the tree breathes the gale. Laughs at storm and fury.

And so with the individual. It is the storm that tests. The wind that rages and sweeps and rends. The lightnings that flash and play. And the stout fibre breathes the storm and emerges strong and enduring.

So Burroughs was serene. Strong. He did not fritter away his strength with frets. He was not sapped with little imaginings. As a pile is in the sea.

Perhaps you have seen one. Covered with little barnacles or animalculae. Possibly they are larger than animalculae.

But they burrow into the wood and eventually destroy it. Just as little frets and worries burrow into happiness and eventually destroy it.

Beware of the barnacles. The animalculae. For they are among the deadly sappers of vitality and strength.

So as Burroughs said "your own will come to you."

The thing you deserve you will get. Emerson said that, too: "Be careful of the things you wish for they will surely be yours."

But what do you wish? And do you wish steadfastly. Earnestly and sincerely and courageously. And do you live the spirit of your wishes. Emerson did not add this.

He left you to think it out for yourself. Because the things you think out for yourself are the things that will profit you most.

Thinkings are the earnings of your intelligence. The result of your intellectual labors. And you prize them. Because you labored for them and earned them.

Some time watch the sea. The tides that ebb and flow endlessly. And know that for every tide that ebbs there is succeeding one that flows.

For the earth and the ocean remain steadfast. They do not flutter and flitter and fly away.

Stand steadfast! Be the rock where the tide ebbs and flows. And be sure that for every tide that ebbs in your life, there will be a succeeding one that flows.

It may be ebb tide now. But surely it will be flood tide before long. Be patient. Be serene. Be courageous. Labor. And wait!

JAMES W. FOLEY.

SONGS OF THE POETS

A Birthday—By Christina, Georgina Rossetti (1830-1894)

My heart is like a singing bird
Whose nest is in a water'd shoot;
My heart is like an apple tree
Whose boughs are bent with thick-set fruit;
My heart is like a rainbow shell
That paddles in a halcyon sea;
My heart is gladder than all these,
Because my love has come to me.

Raise me a dais of silk and down;
Hang it with vail and purple dyes;
Carve it in dove and pomegranates,
And peacocks with a hundred eyes;
Work it in gold and silver grapes,
In leaves and silver fleurs-de-lys;
Because the birthday of my life
Is come, my love has come to me.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

[New York Times]

One way, and not a bad one, to treat the nonsense talked by the present "Overseer of Zion" about the shape of the earth is to dismiss it with a smile or a laugh, and pass on to the consideration of other matters. But there is real interest, not in what the man says in imagined proof that the earth is flat, but in the fact that, being the man he is, he can make in seeming seriousness a long string of statements, every one of which, as support for his contention, is worse than worthless.

Judged by this exhibition of ignorance and unintelligence alone, Wilbur Glenn Voliva would have to be catalogued either with illiterates or with imbeciles. And the queer thing is that he is neither! On the contrary, he is sharp and shrewd, he can read and write, and does a good deal of both, and for some years—ever since he assumed the management of the little industrial city founded by the once famous Dowie just north of Chicago—he has been performing with marked success a very difficult task.

Without much executive ability, and even more of that high form of wisdom known as tact, he could not have managed this island of theocracy to the apparent contentment of all his subjects—at least they never have revolted against his laws, which are many and intimately meddlesome—and made the strange enterprise a financial triumph of no small size for himself and for them. His administration, moreover, has been marked by none of the scandals, monetary or moral, that terminated so many like experiments in the middle of the nineteenth century, and he has won for Zion City tolerance and something like amused respect from the neighboring communities.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA E. STEWART

"Want to make a quarter?" asked a traveler with heavy luggage of a boy loafing in the station platform. "Nope," was the laconic answer. "Got one already."

Wasn't he expressing exactly the spirit with which some of us are meeting life? Smugly satisfied with what we already have, though that is none too much, indolently reluctant to exert ourselves to gain more, so long as we do not feel the actual pinch of necessity, are we not living in just this manner?

All the unemployment is not on account of the unsettled industrial situation, or the absence of work to be done. Don't let's hypnotize ourselves into that belief. Some of it is the fault of the people who want work. Let each shoulder a fair share of the burden.

Isn't it a mistake to ask too much in wage or salary, just as much as it is a mistake to be too particular as to the exact kind of work done when necessity is at the door? Isn't it a mistake to keep on believing that war-inflated wages can last forever? Isn't it a mistake to hide our heads, ostrichlike, and refuse to read the signs of the times, so apparent?

Common sense is the only factor that's going to settle the vexed questions of the day. Why not use it, in whatever place we are fixed?

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

Los Angeles police raided a festival that was being given by Mexicans for the benefit of charity.

It seems that the best Mexican society had been participating in the event. The affair had general approval. The purpose was fine. But the police learned that "games of chance" were in progress. That is to say, for a trifle one might, if skillful, win a kewpie doll or some similar trifle, ordinarily deemed innocent. The small sum paid for the privilege of trying was to be added to the charity fund. So the police swooped down in virtuous swarm and carted the wicked kewpies to the calaboose.

Will the police excuse the remark that they were guilty of a silly piece of business? This occurred at a time when there was clamor for more patrolmen in order that the streets might be safe. At a time when the holdup industry (which is not a game of chance, as the victim knows), was in full blast. Night and day crimes of violence are occurring. Bandits roam the city almost unhampered. A citizen out after sundown, afoot or in automobile, is in constant danger of being waylaid by murderous ruffians.

Women are not secure from attack. Burglaries are common. But these malefactors are hard to catch. They are armed and desperate. How much easier to rush into a bevy of happy and unweaponed Mexicans, engaged in enjoying themselves, and doing no harm to anybody in the world! Easy as taking candy from children; about as respectable also. And, as remarked above, a silly piece of business.

Sarah Bernhardt is the world's grand and wonderful woman. At the age of 77 she appears on the stage in a role that gives her opportunity "to display her charm of voice and diction." Think of the marvelous persistence of her powers! Old in years, deprived of one leg, she holds her admirers as in the days the calendar said she was young.

"How to Become Great—A Rule that Never Fails" was the recent theme of a popular pastor.

There is no infallible rule by which a man may become great. Perhaps he may make himself good, or rich, or accomplished, or well-tailored, or learn to play the tuba, but greatness is an attribute and not an acquirement.

It is singular that Germans should desire American troops to remain on the Rhine, but such seems to be the case. France also is desirous that they should stay. Probably both countries view the presence of the Americans as a visible and unbiased pledge of good faith.

Chinese are charged with declining to negotiate with Japan concerning the return of Shantung. Doubtless they do so refuse, and are right in their position. The opening of a gabfest would be construed as an admission that Japan had a color of right to occupancy of Shantung. The Chinese do not perceive any need for talking about it, when the only course of Japan, were the Japanese sincere, would be to pack up and get out.

Los Angeles now leads San Francisco in manufactures, the margin in favor of the former city being wide. Of course this is something to boast about, but the methods of boasting easily may become offensive.

Rickard threatens to bring about a fight between Dempsey and Willard. If there is no method of enjoining him, there is comfort in the thought that he would bring punishment upon himself by inflicting a cruel wound in his now comfortable bankroll. While people do like to be humbugged, they draw the line at the attempt to make them ridiculous.

JUST TO SMILE

A sudden sound of whistling disturbed the slumberous air of the classroom, and the strains of "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" floated over small heads bent over forty small slates.

"Who's that whistling?" screamed the teacher, as soon as she had recovered from her surprise.

"It's just masel," answered Sandy Macpherson, with true Scotch imperturbability. "Did ye no ken Ah could whistle?"

"Why did you leave your last place?" inquired an employer of an applicant for employment.

"I was discharged for good behavior, sir," replied the applicant.

"Discharged for good behavior!" exclaimed the employer. "I never heard of such a thing!"

"Oh, but it's true, sir, I assure you," said the man; "I had eighteen months taken off my time for good conduct."

The Barton Bedtime Stories

THE GATE THAT YOU COULDN'T CUT DOWN!

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

If willing teeth could have helped the Red Cow she would have slipped back through the gate she had jumped over to get into the Deep Woods and sneaked off home to Tommy Peel's barn without anyone but the Woodfolk knowing what she'd been up to. And you'd better believe they wouldn't have told on her. 'Cause she had gotten into trouble herself just by going to Tad Coon's rescue.

"We'll gnaw it off at the root," said Chips Beaver hopefully. "Then it's just got to tail down." Even wise old Dr. Muskrat felt sure he was right. He'd never cut a tree down, but he'd cut enough twigs and burlap in his time to understand that a tree must work exactly the same.

But a gate wouldn't. They gnawed off the lower corner of it in no time. "Better stand out of the way, doctor," Chips advised. "I guess I'd better risk the last cut, 'cause I'm the spryest. And we don't know which way it'll fall." He gave it a last triumphant slash and leaped to safety—as he thought. The gate tipped, swung a little, but didn't come down.

Good reason why—there was a big twist of wire holding it. And it wouldn't give way—not even when fat Tad Coon dared to climb up on the tectery gate and jounce on it.

Maybe—just maybe—Tad might have undone that wire with his clever handy-paws. But the minute he felt it he flounced down, gasping: "Cold iron! Cold iron! It's a trap!"

Their hearts sank. Cold iron is what traps are made of. No wonder every beast in the woods (except Chips, and traps are another thing he didn't know about) was scared to death of it.

"It is a trap," moaned the Red Cow. "And I'm caught. I'll just have to stay here until Tommy Peel comes to undo it. And I'll have to wear that pesky board between my horns—just see if I don't." She dropped to her knees with a sigh. She meant to lie down and comfort herself by chewing her nice, sweet cud, while she waited.

But just that very minute Nibble Rabbit's long ears felt the tickle that turns into a sound when he listens hard. "Hush!" he cried. "Get up, Red Cow! Get up! Somebody's coming. It isn't Watch the Dog, 'cause the first thing you hear of him is his bark. And it isn't Tommy, Hide! Hide quick till I find out who it is!" He went skipping off on his tippy-toes before they could ask another question.

(NEXT STORY—CLEVER NIBBLE RABBIT! HIS RUSE WORKED!)

MERCHANTS TO MEET ORGANIZE CREDIT BUREAU HERE

Every Merchant is Urged to Attend Meeting Thursday

The Merchants' committee recently appointed to secure necessary funds for the organization and operation of a credit bureau in Glendale, reports that their efforts are meeting with success and the members of the committee are confident that they will have raised the full quota required by Thursday night. In time to report at the meeting to be held in chamber of commerce.

All business and professional men of Glendale are urged to attend the meeting Thursday night at 7:30 to arrange the details of organizing such a bureau. According to Cliff Neale of Neale & Gregg, every business man in the city should attend for a credit bureau, such as is planned, is of vital importance to the business life of the city and it should count as a member every professional and business man. Mr. Neale said a credit bureau is as important to the business life of a city as a bank and every business man should be willing to give one hour of his time tomorrow night to assist in the organization of a bureau.

Intermediate—The soccer game between Intermediate and Eagle Rock in the Tri-School League, played Tuesday afternoon, resulted in a score of 14 to 0 in favor of Intermediate.

Bank Messenger Doing Time While Mr. Smith Spends Loot

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 26.—The commitment of Charles Stevens, 19, of this city, to the state penitentiary at Deer Lodge for a term of from seven to fourteen years, has renewed interest here in the mystery surrounding the whereabouts of approximately $20,000, half of the $40,000 in currency stolen by Stevens when acting as messenger for a local bank.

The story of young Stevens' crime the recovery of a portion of the money and the search for an elusive "Mr. Smith," who is supposed to have disappeared with the missing money, was revealed here by detectives following denial by the state supreme court of a new trial for Stevens after he had been convicted for the theft.

Stevens Found Bound Young Stevens, who was a messenger of the Union Bank and Trust Co. of Helena, was found in an alley not far from the bank an hour after he had left the postoffice with $40,000 in currency, consigned to the bank. He was bound, gagged and apparently unconscious. The $40,000 was nowhere to be found.

Stevens was revived and told a lurid tale of having been attacked, beaten and robbed as he cut across the alleys to the bank. He said two men had attacked him and described them in detail.

Since Helena is a small town and the time was mid-forenoon, the story was questioned. He was taken to jail and after two days he admitted that he had evolved the yarn from a movie he had seen. He had declared that the cashier of the bank had been his accomplice and was to have shared in the spoils.

After a severe grilling, however, young Stevens admitted that he had stolen the money and said that he would show the officers where he had hidden it.

Bank officials, newspapermen and a string of spectators followed him to the rear of the building where he had been found. He said the money was concealed in a hole in the wall, inside the building, which was deserted. He put his hand into the hole. Then he looked blank, then frightened and finally said there was nothing there. He insisted he was not lying. A thorough search proved there was no money anywhere on the premises. A grueling cross-examination failed to shake the story, and it became apparent that Stevens was telling the truth. But where was the money?

There were almost as many theories as there were inhabitants of Helena.

Officers spent a busy two weeks trailing down clues.

Then the lavish expenditures of a family in a small town near Helena attracted attention. Their story of the sudden death of a wealthy relative was found to be false and officers began to investigate their source of income. During the inquiry, which covered several days, it is believed that a detective twice sat on the hidden money—once while he occupied a cushioned chair and again when he reposed on a couch.

"Mr. Smith" Disappears The suspected family consisted of husband and wife and a brother of the woman—the mysterious "Mr. Smith." "Mr. Smith" disappeared after investigation of the family started.

One day, while a detective was questioning the woman, the husband abruptly left the room. The detective followed him to a heap of rubbish and watched him pull out an old flour sack in which was a huge pile of bills—part of the missing $40,000.

According to the detective the husband related the story. The man and his brother-in-law, "Mr. Smith," were driving in a truck near the alley, when they saw the bank messenger hide something in the deserted building.

The woman's brother entered the building and seized the package. Arriving in the light, he found it was money. He tossed it into the rear of the truck, under some old quilts, and drove all over Helena, while the entire police and sheriff's force were hunting for the missing cash.

"That night, when we saw the paper," said the man, "we were scared, because the boy said he had been slugged by two men. There were two of us, and we had the money. If we'd given it up I guess we would both be doing time now for the job, wouldn't we?"

He started spending

At first we were afraid to hide it. Then the boy changed his story and we knew he had stolen it. We figured we might as well have some of it, so we started to spend it. The officers came before we divided it, and one of them sat on the money twice. When the officers left, we divided the money. "Mr. Smith" taking his share and leaving the city. And to date, neither "Mr. Smith" nor the missing $20,000 has been apprehended.

POURING CONCRETE DON PEDRO DAM HAS STARTED

Largest Impounding Dam in World When Finished in 1923

MODESTO, Cal., Oct. 26.—Work of pouring concrete has begun at the Don Pedro dam, which is to be the largest impounding dam in the world. The immense concrete mixers and the concrete "gun," make it possible to "shoot" 800 cubic yards of concrete daily.

The work is several weeks ahead of schedule. The dam site is 45 miles from here in Tuolumne county on the river of that name. Water impounded will be used to supply the Modesto and Turlock irrigation districts, and will, it is estimated, double the value of agricultural products of Stanislaus county. The dam will be completed in 1923. The work on the big power plant which will take care of power for the districts for many years to come, is proceeding coincident with the erection of the dam.

RESIDENT TELLS EVERYBODY TO HELP

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 26.—With the serious railroad strike situation in his mind, President Harding announced he does not intend to "coddle and patronize labor."

"I want us all to get out and put on denims, roll up our sleeves, let our hands be honorably soiled and do the work," he said. He did not mention the rail strike directly.

WRONG PEW

A Scotsman, anxious as usual to make a bit, hit upon the idea of collecting old tin cans and pieces of scrap iron. Having accumulated a good collection, he sent them to a local scrap dealer. Somehow or other they went astray, however, and were delivered to the wrong place. Imagine his surprise the next morning when he received the following letter from a garage:

"Dear Sir—Your motor car to hand. We have never seen a worse smash, but we will do our best to put it together again. We send you herewith an estimate for the cost of repairs and approximate date of delivery."

FAIR ENOUGH

A large poster displayed in the window of a florist's shop read as follows:

"Don't lead the life of a slave. Try a package of our famous weed killer." Although the advertisement seemed to amuse all who read it, the florist declared to a fellow tradesman that it had been a great help to his trade.

That evening the friend of the florist, who was an electrician, was seen plastering his shop window with a poster which ran:

"To married men: Don't kill your wives with housework. Let one of our electric floor scrubbers do the dirty work."

EXTRAVAGANCE IS KING IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 26.—Many frills from New York, Paris and London have been brought to Mexico City in connection with the centennial celebration.

Many shops and hotels now have footmen in uniform at the door, and pages—mites of boys about as big as large peanuts—attired in red, green or blue.

Automobiles containing vases filled with flowers, and all of the newest embellishments demanded by fashion or devised by ingenious builders. While some of the officials cling to the Jeffersonian simplicity of revolutionary fathers and walk or ride in a small car with a familiar name, there is a fast-growing tendency toward display.

Much of the new life in Mexico City is due to the increasing number of Americans, who are to be seen everywhere. There are Americans here of every description, rich and poor, honest and otherwise.

In the crowd of Americans are numerous promoters, who have for the present turned their attention from oil wells and silver mines to land-selling projects. Real estate men warn Americans who come to Mexico to buy lands to make inquiries about land agents before entering into negotiations with them.

Land is cheap here in most places, but some of the land would be high at any price.

TRAINS FOR ZILLAH LEAVE ON THE HOUR

OLYMPIA, Oct. 26.—"Women have their rights," the attorney-general of the state of Washington ruled. "Let them wear 'em."

"'Em' meant pants—the kind men wear. The marshal of the town of Zillah had complained to the attorney-general that women of the village where he tried to enforce the laws were "carrying on" by parading through the streets in "pants," and that they refused to obey his command to "dress decently."

So he appealed to the attorney-general to end the practice. But the state official ruled against him—that they had a right to wear "em."

Glendale's Shopping Guide Brings The Usual and Unusual To You

In her journeys from place to place, Martha Alicia finds many things of interest. Mr. Glendale, Mrs. Glendale and all the Glendale youngsters. As a "shopping scout" for Glendale Daily Press readers, Martha Alicia covers many steps for buyers.

YOU'LL FIND IT SUCH A SATISFACTION to transact your business with the FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF GLENDALE at the corner of Brand Blvd. and East Broadway! Its officials and attendants are always most courteous and eager to help and advise you in any way possible, and if it is an investment for your savings that you are contemplating, then by all means consult them first—for, after all, one's banker is in a better position to judge, isn't he? And, too, I would advise you to establish your checking account at the First National Bank for it is so much more convenient to handle one's finances in this manner than by a budget system, or just with cash! You'll find, I know, that you will save just ever so much more money when you are accounting for every penny, and then, you will be able to tell just where you must "cut the corners," as it were! Stop in at the First National Bank today and ask about their accounts, and also about investing your money. I know you will find it worth your while!

Best of soup meats comes from the shank, or upper front leg, and the neck of the animal. The first gives more of the gelatinous quality and the second more of the juices in the meat.

COLD AT NIGHT? DON'T WORRY any longer, for science has now come to the fore with a wonderful electric pad to keep you warm! At the GLENDALE ELECTRIC CO., 132 North Brand, you'll find this soft, downy, wooly, flannel pad, with a neat white cover, so arranged as to give just the temperature you need. Three degrees of heat may be obtained with this Universal Electric Heating Pad, high, medium and low—and so that it may be conveniently operated in the dark, there is an indicator by which you can feel the switch! The pad is equipped with thermostats, and thus it can only reach a certain degree of temperature, but will retain that heat! For use on the sleeping porch, or to warm baby's bed, it's just what you've needed!

Fur collars will be worn on many suit jackets and coat dresses, and white caracul, gray astrakhan and black fox will lead as favorites for this purpose.

MOST EVERYONE NOWADAYS is interested in good-looking gas heaters for winter! Although California has little or no really cold weather, many are the times that a little clean heat, quickly generated, will not be amiss! The ENTERPRISE FURNITURE CO. of 216 East Broadway is showing an excellent line of Detroit Jewel Heaters—some marked as low as $5.00. They also have the really cozy and homey alright stoves, or wood burners, that have their place in every home, no matter how large or how small. These handy burners have been marked from $3.00 up.

Two soft satin crepes which will be extensively used are Samovar satin crepe and Paulette charmeuse. The former has a shiny right side and a Canton black, making it reversible.

WHERE IS THERE A FEMININE heart that doesn't thrill at the prospects of a sale? And could you see the smart tailored hats of panne velvet and hatter's plush which Mrs. Yarbrough is preparing to offer tomorrow at $13.50, you'd not waste a minute between home and YARBROUGH'S HAT SHOPPE, 1-1/2 West Broadway! A good looking sailor should be a part of every woman's wardrobe—and this is surely your looked-for opportunity to have one of the best for the least money! Mrs. Yarbrough has a new stock of the popular, large, square Spanish veils, in the much-to-be-desired grays and browns! Then, too, a gay little corsage bouquet does brighten one's gown or fur perceptibly—and Yarbrough's is just the place to buy them! One, in particular, that took my fancy is cleverly fashioned of bunches of violets, while another is a rich and beautiful combination of silk roses!

Pimento cheese can be rolled into balls, just as you make butter balls, and if placed on the side of the salad they add color, and it is a convenient way of serving cheese.

A COSY TEAPOT ON A CHILLY autumn evening adds a sort of homeliness to the dinner table! At FISHER'S VARIETY STORE, 212 East Broadway, you'll find an excellent stock of attractive English pots, finished inside and out with good-looking brown glaze finish, and decorated in gold! There are only three sizes in these imported teapots—$1.39, $1.49 and $1.85. Then, besides, Fisher's also have the cheaper, earthenware pots at three prices—39c, 49c and 59c! Stop in and look over their wonderful stock of holiday novelties—for they are receiving daily shipments of all sorts of toys and playthings for the children!

FURS and furs these nippy mornings are beginning to make one think of the inventions of mankind that tend to keep the body warm. New winter suits are already on the market, furs are here, too—furs are not seasonable anyhow—and hot drinks will soon be making their appearance. In my rounds today the thought came to me that the wise shopper will begin right now to prepare for Christmas—only 56 days hence. Do your shopping now, whether it be for Christmas or for your immediate needs. A bird in the hand doesn't have to be caught again.

Beige sand and gray are favorites of the season.

YOU'LL BE ABLE TO SIT FOR HOURS before your Brunswick, charmed with the new records for November! For instance, could there be a lovelier number than Mario Chamlee's interpretation of "O Sole Mio," that enchanting melody of Neapolitan love? Then there is the violin, flute and harp recording by the Gondolier Trio—"Serenade"—as tender as a lullaby!

Or, if mayhap, your choice runs to the more popular dance music, what more could you ask than "Ma," played by Isham Jones' Orchestra—the highest paid dance orchestra in America—coupled with another of their instant successes, "Wabash Blues," in which the cornet laughs and talks like a human? You'll also welcome the introduction of "Why, Dear" on a Brunswick record, for it is the famous Isham Jones who again makes it an irresistible fox-trot number! Its coupling, "My Sunny Tennessee," is just every bit as captivating as "Why, Dear," and the time is simply marvelous.

And, oh! there are so many, many more enchanting numbers for November on sale at the NEW ARTISTIC BRUNSWICK SHOPPE this week! Stop in at 126 South Brand Blvd. and hear them, or simply phone, and they'll send some records out for you to try!

If the skin is sun scorched, bathe it in milk.

THROUGH THE SERVICES OF an expert New York buyer, HATZ'S at 132 South Brand boulevard is enabled to show at all times the newest and most wanted models in dresses, suits and coats. Often, too, this same buyer is able to take advantage of price concessions by manufacturers that represent a considerable saving. These savings, then, are in turn passed along to you—the customer! For example, this week they are showing some smart, snappy dresses of tricot, polart twill, canton crepe and satin at $24.75, that are very attractive. Each week brings new, fresh merchandise to this busy specialty shop—merchandise of individuality and quality. You will find an early visit to Hatz's most gratifying and it will prove a great help in solving the "what to wear" problems!

COULD THERE BE A MORE APPRECIATIVE remembrance at the Yuletide than one's own photograph in an attractive folder? GLENN R. DOLBERG, who has just recently opened such a pretty shop at 205 1/2 East Broadway, is offering a beautiful photo finished in sepia and mounted in an artistic little folder that measures just 3x5! This is particularly attractive to girls, and the price is so reasonable as to be well within the reach of everyone! They are not of a cheaper quality but simply a smaller size! Stop in and look over Mr. Dolberg's work!

"Lace up" clock is the newest hosiery sensation. Open work is laced back and forth with white silk on black stockings and the ends tie in a part bow.

FOR A DEAR FRIEND FOR WHOM you have deep feeling, for an acquaintance whose association you value or for those whom you love—a winsome little motto card, with a friendship verse, such as BOTT'S BOOK STORE at 113 South Brand boulevard are showing, is a delightful memento! No matter what the occasion that prompts your gift, I know you'll find just the card with an appropriate verse—at Bott's!

DO IT NOW!

Build that house now; construct that highway at once; build that school, that church, repair that broken pavement; build that garage, and even that chicken coop, now—not tomorrow.

Go ahead with your plans; speed the nation on the road to full employment and thus hasten the day of individual and national prosperity and safety.

Preach this everywhere; put it into effect, and remember, business men of Glendale, men of "big business" and men of "little business," that there is something in this infinitely higher and more important than the small amount of money involved which you think you could save by waiting.

Some men put off the day of salvation, expecting to attend to it on their death bed, but not many ever succeed in doing it at that hour. "Do it now, and do it with all your might," should be the motto of every man in Glendale who expects to do any construction work in the near future. "Do it now," and thus do your part toward individual and national business salvation—and even more.

Procrastination is more than the thief of time; it is the murderer of opportunity.

Glendale Real Estate

Arts and Crafts, Mrs. Ralph Meeker, curator, at City Library on Harvard street, Thursday at 10 a. m.

Music Section, Mrs. C. L. Marlenee, curator, Friday afternoon at home of Mrs. Colin Cable, on South Columbus avenue.

SILVER TEA AT

MRS. FARRELL'S HOME

Mrs. C. Farrell of 435 Patterson avenue entertained at a silver tea, card party and dance Tuesday afternoon and evening, for the benefit of the new Catholic church. A sum approximating $80 was realized.

Mrs. Doctor Bishop won the door prize for the afternoon and Miss Irene Morgan for the evening. First prize for whist was awarded Mrs. T. J. Morgan and consolation prize went to Mrs. Thomas L. Long.

A very enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent in cards and dancing and numerous people from Los Angeles were in attendance.

AFTERNOON TEA AT FRANKLIN HOME

Mrs. Blake Franklin of 398 West Wilson avenue and her mother, Mrs. J. H. Franklin of 246 North Central avenue entertained Tuesday afternoon at a very charming tea given at the San Gabriel Country Club, in honor of Mrs. Blanche Grieves of Lacon, Illinois. Mrs. Grieves leaves Thursday for her home in the east.

The guests who assisted in completing Mrs. Hiram Wilkes of Burbank, Mrs. G. E. Black and Roy Blackstone of Los Angeles, Mrs. J. W. Allison and Mrs. C. Price Holmes of Monrovia, Mrs. W. W. Worley, Mrs. E. P. Sallee, Mrs. J. H. Franklin and Mrs. Blake Franklin of Glendale.

The party first enjoyed a motor trip through Oak Knoll and then took tea at the country club.

TUESDAY CLUB IS GIVEN RARE TREAT

Tuesday Afternoon Club members enjoyed a treat different from anything they have had for some time in the lecture given yesterday by Miss Aline Barrett Greenwood on "The South Sea Isles." It was practically her first appearance with this theme before any of the Southern California clubs and in introducing her, Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson congratulated the club on its good fortune.

The speaker is a world traveler and is therefore able to judge the South Seas and the people thereof by comparison with other islanders. Miss Greenwood began by saying that no place in the world is lovelier than the South Seas and that nothing that has ever been said about it in praise of its beauty has said half enough. Said she: "It is not a place, it is a state of mind, a taste. If you liked that kind of thing you would have a wonderful time. If you expected to find what you left at home you would be much disappointed. It is the extreme of everything, exquisite in loveliness and in debauchery."

Your Mr. Frederick O'Brien has done a remarkable thing. He did not intend to write a travel book. He wrote stories with a South Sea background. He has been criticised for not being absolutely exact, but that is an author's privilege. He has done by far the best things that have been done in revealing the South Seas."

Between the Polynesian and the European there is, she declares, a great gulf that is very evident in the islands and that can never be bridged, but the natives possess a sweetness and contentment we can never emulate, and are generous to a fault. Their emotions lie close to the surface. Some of them are degraded, but so are some of our people.

"Life is so pleasant and easy, so enticing that it demoralizes many white men and the more brilliant they are, the lower they fall."

A short business session preceded the program, which Mrs. Hutchinson, the president, conducted.

The names of applicants for membership were read by the secretary, Mrs. Oliver Clark, as follows: Messrs. Willard D. Nelson, Helen W. Sawyer, W. A. Gibson, A. C. Ayars, Mark D. Stole, Guy Wilson and Allen N. Fairchild.

Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward offered a resolution that the Tuesday Afternoon Club with a membership of over 500, urges the International Conference at Washington, about to convene, to use every effort to bring about international disarmament. The resolution was adopted without a dissenting vote.

The matter of taking a vote on the question of censorship of moving pictures was mentioned by the president and action deferred until the next meeting that members may have time to think about it.

Members were urged to support the club's candidate in the American Legion's queen contest, also to make contributions of fruit and other foods to the Monte Vista Home for Unfortunate Children, and to the four institutions which the club is pledged to aid, viz., the Children's Hospital, Kings' Daughters' Nursery, Florence Crittenton Home and Maternity Cottage.

Mrs. R. E. Chase, drama curator, announced the section will give the one-act plays as a clubhouse benefit, November 18, and that tickets will be on sale at the next meeting of the club.

Mrs. John Robert White gave notice that she will offer an amendment to the club constitution two weeks hence, making provision for life membership.

The auditorium was well filled with an appreciative and very responsive audience, and the bamboo decoration of the walls was unique and effective.

JACK JENKINS HAS BIG PARTY

Jack Jenkins of 712 North Isabel street entertained Tuesday evening at a jolly Hallowe'en party. He was assisted by his mother, Mrs. Edith Jenkins. The house and dining table were attractively decorated in orange and black. Place cards were tiny yellow pumpkins and the favors were orange and black baskets filled with corn candies.

During the evening the guests enjoyed old-fashioned games, after which delicious refreshments of hot coffee, doughnuts, pumpkin pie and fruit cocktail were served, as well as popcorn and candy. The latter part of the evening the party took an automobile ride. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Pearson, Miss Peggy Pollock of Los Angeles, Miss Eva Green, Frances Bacon, and the host, Jack Jenkins.

BUSINESS WOMEN HAVE BIG PROGRAM

The first program meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club last night in the girls' gymnasium of the high school, was a great success. The ninety members present at the close of the program, crowded around the desk of the secretary to sign the constitution. Thirty new members enrolled and more reported their intention of joining.

The program opened with a word of greeting from Mayor Spencer Robinson, who then sang several Irish and Scotch songs, which greatly pleased the accompaniment.

Mrs. Margaret L. Biggs, president of the club, welcomed the business women and told of the aims of the organization, which are: The organization of a class in physical training, provided there is a sufficient demand for it; securing a rest room in the central part of the city where it will be available for business women during the noon hour; establishment of a vocational guidance department and placement bureau to aid business women in finding the work to which they are best adapted.

At the brief business session, officers to serve the club the next three months were elected as follows: Nell Leggett, president; Sigrid Berg, secretary; Flora Hamilton, treasurer. The retiring president, Miss Mildred Elliott, gave an inspiring talk and introduced the new president, Miss Leggett responded with a brief talk.

Announcement was made that the club is now on a permanent basis, having purchased its own linen to be used at the weekly suppers, and the monogram of the club has been embroidered upon it by Mrs. Teasdale.

Bible study under the leadership of Miss Maude Soper was taken up immediately following the supper, the subject being the eighth chapter of St. Mark. Following the study was a very pleasant social hour, of which Mrs. Harry Marple, assisted by representatives of the different churches, had charge.

PACIFIC SCHOOL KIDDIES END RACE

Children of the fifth and sixth grades of the Pacific avenue school, last night enjoyed a Hallowe'en party. Black cats, witches and Hallowe'en colors featured the pretty tables, at which the girls were seated, and the supper was served by ladies of the Central Avenue Methodist church, viz., Mrs. Margaret Biggs, Mrs. M. Rose, Miss Josephine Coke, Mrs. C. H. Muhleman, Mrs. C. A. Bohn, Mrs. M. A. Hewitt, Miss Julia Goodsell and Mrs. G. T. Mark.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE A HUNDRED YEARS MAKE!

We'll say the girl of one hundred years ago had "something on" the modern miss in more ways than one. The changes Dame Fashion has decreed in a century are shown by Miss Frances Halliday, dressed in a costume of 1821, and Miss Dorothy Whitmore, dressed in her ultra-modern street costume.

The retiring president, Miss Mildred Elliott, gave an inspiring talk and introduced the new president, Miss Leggett responded with a brief talk.

Announcement was made that the club is now on a permanent basis, having purchased its own linen to be used at the weekly suppers, and the monogram of the club has been embroidered upon it by Mrs. Teasdale.

Bible study under the leadership of Miss Maude Soper was taken up immediately following the supper, the subject being the eighth chapter of St. Mark. Following the study was a very pleasant social hour, of which Mrs. Harry Marple, assisted by representatives of the different churches, had charge.

At the brief business session, officers to serve the club the next three months were elected as follows: Nell Leggett, president; Sigrid Berg, secretary; Flora Hamilton, treasurer. That if you invest $5 each month in our institution for a period of 132 months, you will have $1,000 all your own, $660 of which you put in the investment and $340 of which

Your Money Earned?

The salaried man cannot hope to win independence unless he INVESTS a portion of his earnings. The thrifty man is the one who taxes his income for INVESTMENT PURPOSES. If you get $200 a month as a salary, invest $20 of that $200, and at the end of 132 months, you have $4,000 to start you in business.

When your salary is increased, add the increase to your INVESTMENT and it won't be long before you are hanging out your shingle and doing business for yourself. You will be making your money work for YOU.

Some of the best business men in Glendale are investors in our company. Come in and let us tell you how to get YOUR TICKET over the road of INDEPENDENCE.

who have entered with enthusiasm into the annual drive for members of the Parent-Teacher Association of that school, enjoyed a treat yesterday. The fifth grade, which is taught by Miss Circle, had secured the most mothers, but the sixth grade, of which Mrs. Fannie Stone is the teacher, had enrolled the largest number of fathers.

Both grades were therefore given a big party under the direction of the room mothers and the room teachers. Following a fine program of games, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

MRS. CAMPBELL IS HOME FROM VISIT

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who was one of the Glendale representatives at the convention of the grand chapter of the Eastern Star at Santa Cruz, and who went on to San Francisco to visit a sister at its close, returned to Glendale yesterday.

Mrs. Campbell has attended grand chapter sessions since 1910 and declares that this one surpassed them all in interest and importance.

Mrs. D. E. F. Easton, the retiring grand matron, who is one of the best known women in the northern part of the state, and prominent in club work, was largely responsible for the success of the meeting. For the first time in California the grand matron was the presiding officer and she acquitted herself with credit to the order.

JUNIOR MUSIC CLUB MEETING SATURDAY

Practice for a Contest to be Held Early Next Year

The Junior Music Club of Eagle Rock met last Saturday afternoon in the Women's club house. This is a very earnest club of musicians from 13 to 18 years of age.

They will practice for a contest to be held in February, when prizes will be given for the best execution of the following pieces, chosen by Adelaide Trowbridge of Los Angeles: For the second grade, "Evening Song," three and one-half grade, "Butterfly," by Grant Schaefer, fifth grade, "Drifting," by Friml; violin piece, "T. Jero," by C. Bohm.

DESIGN BY BUFF FOR NEW CATALOG

A design by Conrad Buff, an artist living at 203 South Hartwick avenue, Eagle Rock, was selected recently by a committee of critics connected with the Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art, to be used on the cover of the museum catalogues and it was purchased for that purpose. Many drawings had been sent in by artists in response to a request of the committee and they were on exhibition at the museum two weeks.

D. A. R. MEETING IS HELD ON MONDAY

Mrs. John C. Shedd Hostess to Members at Her Home

The first meeting of this season of the San Rafael Hills Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held last Monday at the residence of Mrs. John C. Shedd, regent of the chapter, 203 West Colorado boulevard. Last week Mrs. Shedd, who is the wife of Prof. Shedd, entertained the faculty of Occidental College numbering fifty. The ladies came early for a social afternoon and the male members of the faculty joined them at 4:30 for tea.

REV. ISAAC WILL LECTURE TONIGHT

The Wednesday evening lectures on applied psychology of Rev. E. Morgan Isaac, pastor of the Congregational Church, are attracting much attention, not only among residents of Eagle Rock, but in surrounding towns. His topic tonight will be "How Health May Be Attained if Lost." Rev. Isaac was twice on the program of the Metaphysicians' fall program in music-hall, Los Angeles, last week, and is also a regular lecturer for the Metaphysical society, in the Black building, corner of Fourth and Hill streets.

SCHOOL ADDITION WORK BEGINS SOON

Trustees Award Contract for Total of $32,000
for New Work

At last active work is to begin on the much needed additions to the school buildings of Eagle Rock. The trustees have awarded a contract for the entire improvement to the Rommel Construction company, whose bid of $32,000 was the lowest one received.

The plans call for a separate building of three rooms in the rear of the Central school, to be used by the first and second grade pupils and the kindergarten department; a separate structure of one room, connected with the East End school house by a pergola; and a similar arrangement at the West End school house. At present it is necessary to double up in all the schools, giving each grade only a half day session. This required the addition of several teachers to the list originally elected for the year.

The contractors, John and H. E. Rommel, father and son, expect to complete the work at the East and West End schools by December 20, and at the Central school by January 30. The Rommels, with their families, motored to Eagle Rock last year from Louisville, Ky., bought building sites near their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hartley Taylor of 811 West Colorado boulevard, and erected attractive homes. They have established a general construction business.

From Mrs. C. B. Dirks, president of the school board of trustees, it is learned that at present no money is available for the equipment of the new school rooms, as the building contract calls for the full amount of bonds. After consulting with an advisory committee selected from prominent citizens of Eagle Rock, the school trustees have decided to wait until the forthcoming tax receipts replenish their treasury before contracting to purchase the interior furnishings.

FIVE EAGLE ROCK PUPILS WIN HONORS

Among the 75 pupils in the Union High school at Glendale who were selected from the 1500 in attendance as winning the highest marks on entering, therefore entitled to honor pins, were five from Eagle Rock, namely: Ruth Chambers, Wilhelm Koethen, Ruby Eubank, Mary Ball, and Howard Mann.

CAPITAL IS LIQUOR SOAKED ON EVE OF BIG CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—On the eve of the disarmament conference, with its host of foreign guests, the national capital is flooded with bootleg booze. Despite prohibition agents' efforts to squelch this illicit trade and to refute stories that Washington is one of America's wettest cities—with the lid lifted for the conference—a bootleg army, including women, college graduates, ex-aviators, negroes, whites and foreigners, is pursuing a systematic sale and distribution of liquor.

It can be obtained at from $8 to $20 a quart on an hour's notice. Women are among the cleverest of the bootleggers' aides. They have entree in select apartment houses, distributing their illegal wares from them. With the legalization of medicinal beer, officials believe the capital will become even "wetter." Although dry agents believe they are gradually beginning to check bootleg consumption their admissions, plus independent inquiry, shows:

1—There is plenty of liquor in Washington and it can be had even in hotels. The bellboys charge $20 a quart.

2—Routes like milkmen or bakers are established to facilitate distribution.

3—The courts, according to District Prohibition Commissioner Stephenson, due to laxity or overcrowded dockets, are hampering enforcement. Over 7000 bootleg arrests have been made in the fiscal year 1921, ending in July. Since then there are already 500 "pending" cases, in 250 cases fines have been imposed. 200 forfeitures of collateral have been made, 30 booze automobiles have been seized but none permanently confiscated.

4—Booze can be found in the congressional office building. The senate office building brand is a bit better than the house office kind, some say.

5—Two prominent Pennsylvania avenue restaurants were filled Saturday night and Sunday morning early with drunken students—more public drunks than I have seen in nearly three years in Berlin, Paris, Brussels and London.

6—The lid, according to Commissioner Stephenson, is tighter, largely because National Commissioner Haynes' efforts to stamp out the main wholesale supply sources is making the bootleggers' efforts more difficult.

Stephenson pointed out that Washington bootleggers import only comparatively small shipments. The largest haul his office ever made was a 26-barrel lot hidden in a box car shipment with automobile tires. Stephenson admits the district is plotted off in routes but asserts there are few or no "master dealers." The only real "master minds" uncovered were the Butler Brothers, negroes, now under arrest, who had amassed thousands of dollars and a string of 14 automobiles for booze transportation as a result of their operation, the police say.

Senator Sheppard, Texas, dry leader, says bootlegging is not so rampant as a year ago; Senator King, Utah, liberal, says while he doesn't drink himself, his friends declare that

Norma Is Still Some Baby, Family Album Proves

This little baby, called Norma, was the pet and pride of the Talmadge family in Brooklyn. It is quite a few years since this photo was made, and the beautiful baby has grown into the beautiful Norma Talmadge, the noted film star. Grandma will probably recall the pose of Fanny Ward, appearing in tomorrow's paper.

Eagle Rock

PERSONALS

Mrs. Rose Fellows, worthy matron of Eagle Rock Chapter No. 313, Order of the Eastern Star, and B. Frank Bourne, worthy patron, attended the annual meeting of the grand chapter of the order, in Santa Cruz. Mrs. Fellows is now visiting in Sacramento.

Mrs. L. F. Boyles, of Highland Park, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. James Roberts of East Sycamore avenue, while Mr. Roberts is in New York City. He is a buyer for the Ville de Paris, Los Angeles.

Miss Bland of Glendale is here this week soliciting for the Garden Grove Oil company, which is giving free trips to the oil fields, leaving the Eagle Rock drug store every day.

M. W. Wray of Los Angeles was the dinner guest yesterday of his sister, Mrs. W. R. Johnson.

Mrs. Clara S. Ellis spent yesterday in Los Angeles on business and pleasure.

NEW BARBER SHOP HAS BEEN OPENED

J. H. Adams is the proprietor of the new barbershop at 744 East Colorado boulevard. He came to Eagle Rock a short time ago from Boston, where he owned a big shop and employed many men. He decided that Eagle Rock was the best place in California to live, and is content to serve the public in a small way and wait for the town to grow. He has already built up a good trade, as he is a first class barber. Mrs. Adams says she would not live anywhere outside of Eagle Rock and is doing a good deal of letter writing to induce her friends to locate here.

EAGLE ROCK BAKERY ENJOYS BIG TRADE

The Eagle Rock Bakery is kept busy these days supplying the big demand for bread made upon Mr. Mueller, the proprietor. Besides himself he has a first class baker and they are taxed to keep up with the trade. Mr. Mueller puts out as good bread and pastries as can be found anywhere. He knows the business thoroughly.

"BREEZY" EASON DIES ACCIDENT INJURY

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—"Breezy" Eason is dead. The child film actor died in a hospital here during the night, with a grin on his face and small fists clenched. His father, Reeves Eason, director at Universal City, his mother and Harry Carey were at the bedside when death came. "Breezy" was injured in an automobile accident here.

It is increasingly difficult to buy liquor. But the Washington visitor finds it is still a simple matter to get a quart in a short time.

EAST SIDE TO HAVE NEW DRUG STORE

Dr. A. W. Hanson is Imbedded for the Rest of His Days Here

At last the East side is coming into its own. It is to have a first-class drug store, and Dr. A. W. Hanson, a practicing physician of 23 years' experience, is the proprietor.

Dr. and Mrs. Hanson came here from Litchfield, Minn., a short time ago, and after making a careful tour of the surrounding country decided that Eagle Rock suited them best. They, therefore, decided to make their future home here, and the doctor wanted to be busy so he has put in a first class drug store. A big Walrus soda fountain will be installed as soon as it arrives, and soft drinks, ice cream, etc., will be carried in addition to a first class stock of drugs and drug sundries. Dr. Hanson is an able physician and people needing prescriptions filled or anything in the drug line can feel assured they will get exactly what the doctor prescribes and get it also at the right price.

The people of Eagle Rock welcome Dr. and Mrs. Hanson to the community and bespeak for them a good business.

HARDWARE STORE'S STOCK COMPLETE

Few towns the size of Eagle Rock can boast of such a good hardware store as is run by the Eagle Rock hardware company, of which Messrs. C. L. Ritchey and C. L. Suits are owners. The store carries nearly every thing found in a first class city store, including paints, varnishes, oils, stoves, ranges, washing machines and a variety of household necessities too numerous to mention. The people of Eagle Rock need not go out of town to get what they want in this line, for they can get it right at home and at a better price than in the big cities.

BROWN TO HAVE AN OFFICE IN YARDS

A. M. Brown, who makes a specialty of carrying all kinds of rock, gravel and sand for building, will have an office erected at his yards south of Colorado, near Central avenue, within the next few days. The Montrose Railway company will put in a weighing station and better side track facilities for Mr. Brown, who is supplying most of the building rock and sand for Eagle Rock just now.

BRAASCH IMPROVES CANYON TRAIL

A. J. Braasch, who has a slightly home at Windermere and West Hill avenues, has been granted permission by the city trustees to improve at his own expense the rugged Canyon Trail in the foothills north of his property.

ALL DAY MEETING FOR LADIES' AID

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church will have an all-day meeting on Thursday in the church annex, with a hot luncheon at noon. A large attendance is desired, as the work of the society for the coming year will be discussed and plans formulated.

REV. JOHN HADLEY DRAWS BIG CROWDS

The seating capacity of the Methodist Church has been taxed to the limit the last two Sundays by persons desirous of hearing the new pastor, Rev. John Hadley. His sermons are powerful and he is taking hold of the work of the church with great energy. He considers the midweek prayer meetings the "Power House of the Church," and calls on every member to attend them regularly. The hour is 8 o'clock.

JUNIOR PARTY WAS MOST INTERESTING

A junior party, similar to those which were so popular last winter, was given Saturday evening in the Women's club house, with ladies of the club acting as hostesses. All the boys and girls of the eighth grade and in the high school were invited to attend and help to make it a get-acquainted party. There were many present. Games were played and an orchestra of four pieces provided music for dancing.

PERSONALS

The District Council of Woman's Clubs held at Eagle Rock last Thursday, was attended by Mrs. E. H. Wood, president of the Woman's club of this city. This council was attended by all of the presidents of clubs in the Los Angeles district.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Craig was the scene of a delightful recital given last Friday by Joseph Rosenfeld, a well known violinist of Glendale. Mr. Rosenfeld played recently at the Grauman's million dollar theater in Los Angeles.

A musical and literary program was given Friday evening at Atherton Villa. Mrs. Cunningham and other artists appeared on the excellent program given.

Mrs. A. J. Cosgrove, 723 Angeleno avenue, is entertaining her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Laswell of Kansas. The visitors expect to spend the winter in Burbank.

Mrs. H. W. Lewis of this city, is attending the Eastern Star convention, which is being held in Santa Cruz. She was accompanied on her trip north by Mrs. Ray and daughter and Mrs. Grant of Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Clayton left Saturday morning for San Diego, where they will spend some time with friends. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop. The trip is being made by motor.

FRIENDS VISITING FROM FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Lindesmith of Alameda avenue, have been entertaining for several days Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rigdon, recently of Miami, Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Rigdon motored from Florida to Pasadena, where they are making their temporary headquarters. They expect soon to start on a jaunt to Arizona, after which they expect to make their permanent home in Southern California.

NEW YORK WOMEN ORGANIZING FOR DISARMAMENT

Miss Ruth Morgan and Mrs. William Straight.

The women of New York state who have been active in the movement for disarmament have consolidated and organized themselves into a body known as the New York Council for the Limitation of Armament. Hereafter the women who were zealous in their efforts to minimize the cause of war worked independently through a number of organizations, but they now realize that in order to obtain far-reaching results it would be necessary to combine their forces and work through one central agency. Hence the formation of the New York Council, which will concentrate on educating public opinion as to the desirability of limitation of armament as the best guarantee of peace. Photo shows (left) Miss Ruth Morgan, chairman of the Council, and Mrs. Willard D. Straight, vice-chairman.

C. M. YOUNG BUYS DEPARTMENT STORE

C. M. Young of Glendale, has purchased the Ostrander Department store, one of the largest retail establishments of this place. Mr. Young, who has been in the retail dry goods business for years will make some improvements in the arrangement of the store and will add to the already large and complete stock. Mr. Young is well acquainted with the business outlook of this city, having been located for a year and a half in the country lying between this city and San Fernando. Mr. Ostrander and family have already moved to Hollywood, where his son and daughter are attending the university.

FRANK ATWOOD BUYS CONFECTIONERY

Frank H. Atwood, a recent arrival in Burbank, has just completed the purchase of the Victory confectionery, the former owner being Mrs. Allnutt. Mr. Atwood is from Providence, R. I., where for several years he was in the confectionery business. It is the intention of Mrs. Allnutt and daughters to move to Arizona.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB PUTS UP SIGNS

Do you believe in signs? The Automobile Club of Southern California does. That is why it sent a crew of men to Burbank this week to erect a number of the club's signs in this city. These signs are being placed for the guidance of the resident and visiting motorists and also for the pedestrian. Particular importance is being placed by these signs in the "turn at the corners only" law. Los Angeles to San Francisco inland route signs will be placed in this city some time next week. These will be a part of the sign system that will extend from "Frisco" to "Los."

BUILDING BEGINS NEW FALL DRIVE

Thirty-three New Permits Issued in 18 Days This Month

In the building line Burbank is "coming up." A recent glance at the building inspector's books discloses the fact that during the first 18 days of October 33 building permits were issued. The largest of these were for a bungalow court building that is being constructed for C. B. Fitzsimmons by E. G. Hubbs, to cost about $20,000, and a structure to cost a like amount for the Burbank State bank, this structure being erected by J. H. Randall.

Plans have been drawn by the First National bank for a one-story brick business block at the rear of the bank's property and facing on Olive street. This structure will occupy a ground floor space 50x50 feet in size and will contain three small store rooms with a garage in the rear. A space 15 feet wide will be left between the new structure and the building occupied by the bank.

BURBANK CHAMBER BE INCORPORATED

Also to Become Member United States Body Soon

A resolution favoring the incorporation of the chamber and affiliating with the United States Chamber of Commerce was passed Monday evening at a meeting of the Burbank chamber of commerce. During the past few days Executive Secretary Colburn and President Barnum have been busily engaged in compiling a complete business directory of the city, this to be used by the chamber of commerce. This directory includes the name of every business house in Burbank, its owner, local manager, location, number of employees and the length of time in business in Burbank. The members of the chamber of commerce are agreeably surprised at the disclosures of this canvas, as it shows that the growth made by Burbank during the past two years has been little short of wonderful.

PAVING PROGRAM FORGING AHEAD

Finishing Touches on Orange Grove Ave. are Being Applied

Burbank is forging ahead in its street improvement work. Finishing touches are being applied on the paving of Orange Grove avenue, between Tenth street and Sunset Canyon drive by Peter L. Ferry of Glendale, the contractor. It is expected that it will be accepted within a day or so by Street Superintendent Buffington. It is understood that this paving work constitutes a very substantial job, as the large quantity of rock that was unearthed during the grading process has been put into the construction of the street. Upon the solid foundation the surface work has been done. Oil and gravel are now being applied to Angeleno avenue between Eighth and Tenth streets by the city's street department, while the finishing touches are being put on the same street between San Fernando boulevard and Fourth street.

ELECTED BARNUM VICE PRESIDENT

At a recent meeting of the San Fernando Valley Associated Chambers of Commerce held at Pacoima recently, J. H. Barnum, president of the Burbank chamber of commerce, was elected vice-president of the associated chambers. Burbank feels signally honored at the selection of Mr. Barnum for this office.

Word has just been received from Lankershim that T. H. Brown has disposed of his business at that place to W. R. Pigg. This store is claimed to be the oldest in the San Fernando valley.

SOME SERVICE

An Englishman with a keen sense of the humor of American hustle is responsible for the following:

"The best time achieved for assembling a car complete is forty seconds. The latest development of time saving methods at one factory is for a customer to pass his check into a slot machine in the counting room and press a button, whereupon he is whisked along on a traveling pathway at thirty miles an hour to the delivery end of the factory, three-quarters of a mile away."

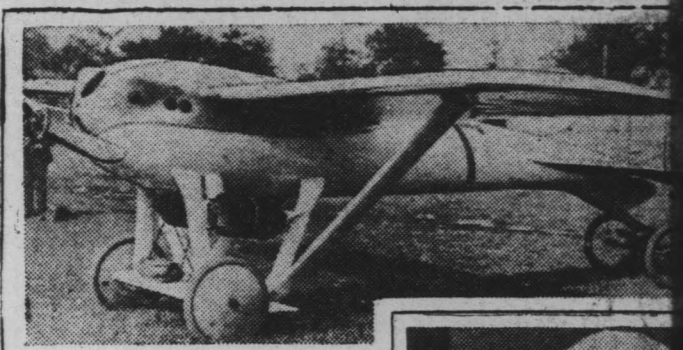

"There he finds his car ready with the engine running, all built during the short interval occupied in getting to the exit. As he passes through the gates a mechanical hand shoots out and hands him a cigar, while a concealed gramophone wishes him 'good day and good luck.'"

BREAKS SPEED RECORD IN AIR RACE

The world's air-speed records for 100, 200 and 300 kilometers were shattered at Etampes, France, by the French aviator, Krisch. His average speed was 278 kilometers, or 179 miles an hour. Krisch's record for the 100 kilometers is 21 minutes 13.5 seconds and for 200 kilometers 42 minutes 39.45 seconds. For the 300 kilometers by his time was 1 hour 4 minutes 39.15 seconds, clipping off 38 seconds from the former record made last year by Sadi-Lecointe. The photo shows Krisch, after the race, and the aeroplane in which he established a new world record.
